

TRAGIC STORY RELATED OF A BROTHER MURDERED

Dick Carson Tells of His Brother Oliver's Disappearance From This City and His Death by Foul Means.

THE GIRL HE LOVED LEFT WITH THE SLAYER

It will be news to most people in East Liverpool that Oliver Carson, a former resident of this city is dead, and still more startling news to them that he was murdered.

After an absence of six years Richard Carson, more familiarly known to East Liverpool people as "Dick," drifted into the city last Friday morning, and remained until Saturday evening. The mere mention of his having been in the city for the two days implies no particular significance, but a story which he related to a News Review reporter will be read with the greatest interest, especially because it pertains wholly to the fate of his brother.

"Do you remember Oliver Carson, my brother?" asked Dick. "Yes, I guess you do. Well, poor Oliver is dead, and he met his death in a manner which I will not soon forget. You know he came to this city in 1894 from Westmoreland county, Pa., and obtained employment at Cartwright's pottery as an apprentice kilnman. He was a rather quiet fellow, but I guess everybody knew him before he left town, and I think he was liked generally.

"He worked in the potteries for over two years, and during that time accumulated $500. Always having a desire to make money and be his own boss, he decided in 1896 to purchase a shantyboat, stock it with ware and sell it to residents of towns down along the Ohio river. I never discouraged him, and was happy when he left the city one day on his own boat for southern points.

"There was a girl in East Liverpool to which he had become much attached, and he did not want to leave her. She seemed to return his love, and when he asked her to keep house for him on his long trip she readily consented to do so, and both left as happy as a couple could be. Her name was Maude Parker and she was one of the most beautiful women I ever saw. Who her parents were I never knew, but I understand she was born and reared in East Liverpool, and that breaks were also greatly in evidence. The central school building was struck with slight damage.

A horse belonging to J. H. Mayhew, son of J. N. Mayhew, whose barn was struck by the lightning at Fairview, was struck during the storm and killed instantly. The animal was a valuable one, and was out in a field near Mr. Mayhew's home.

Ex-Sheriff Robert Lindsay's home on lower Ridge avenue at New Cumberland, was also struck by lightning during the storm, and caught fire, but the flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

The storm also struck Wellsville with violent force about 8 o'clock Saturday evening, and the streets near the Lisbon road were rendered impassable. The street cars were forced to stop for a time.

In the vicinity of Clarkson and Negley, in this county, the storm was quite severe. At Negley the large barn of Mr. McVicker's was struck by lightning, causing it to burn to the ground. No stock in the barn was injured.

Near Fairview the big barn, 80x40 feet, of J. N. Mayhew, father of George Mayhew, the East Liverpool grocer, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Mr. Mayhew had just finished his harvest and the barn was filled with hay, wheat and harvesting implements and all were completely destroyed. The loss to Mr. Mayhew will reach $1,000. The barn, however, was insured, but will only partially cover the loss.

During the storm also, three oil derricks were struck in the Turkeyfoot extension field, and on account of the presence of gas in two of them both were totally destroyed by fire, while the third was saved by great effort. An East Liverpool citizen who passed through the district yesterday says the storm wrought havoc everywhere. He passed a tree which had been struck and scattered over two acres of ground, showing the great force of the lightning.

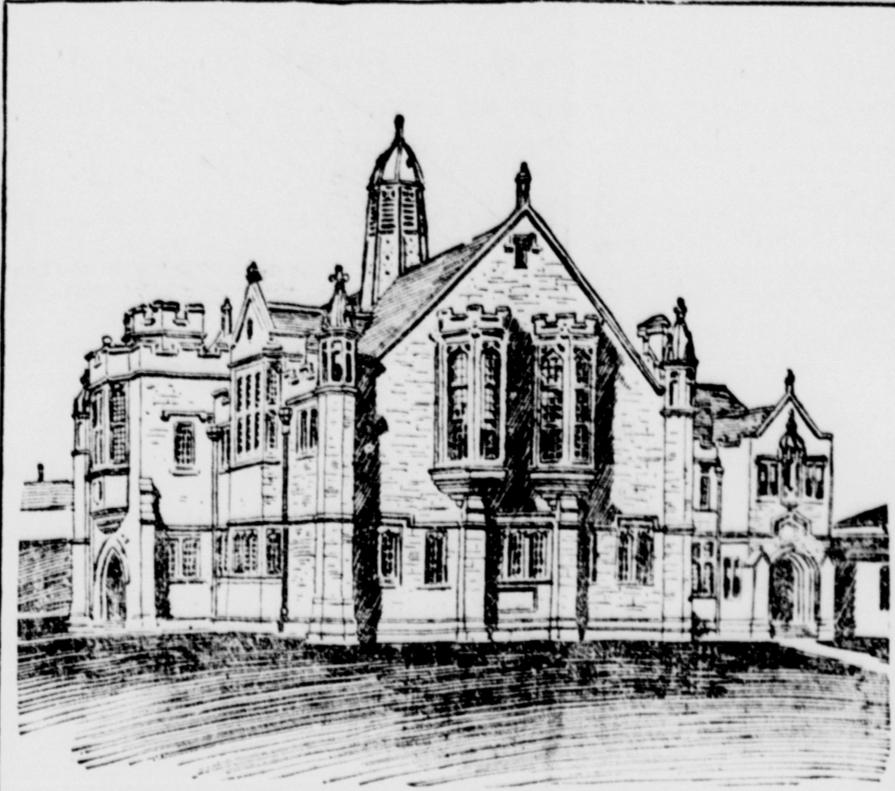

At New Cumberland the lightning's

THE FIRST GLADSTONE MEMORIAL LIBRARY BUILDING.

An appropriate and somewhat pretentious memorial to the late William E. Gladstone is the library building recently completed at Hawarden, England. The structure, the style of which is a modified Gothic, stands on an eminence and is one of the most conspicuous objects in the neighborhood. The interior is finished in antique oak. The cost of the building was defrayed by national subscriptions.

PASTOR OWENS HAS RESIGNED

Minister Surprised Baptist Congregation at Services Yesterday.

ON ACCOUNT OF ILL HEALTH

He Will Seek to Recuperate And Then Go to Another Field of Labor. Church Has Greatly Prospered During His Ministrations.

The congregation of the First Baptist church, of Fifth street, were treated to a great surprise yesterday morning when the pastor, Rev. Oscar L. Owens, announced his resignation to an unusually large audience. His letter of resignation follows:

To the Members of the First Baptist Church.

"Dear Brethren:—We have now entered upon the last two months of the pastoral year. During the ten months that have just passed, this church has taken an advance step, and has, we trust, won many new friends and attained greater strength. If you are loyal the coming year will bring still greater blessings.

"I wish to express my gratitude to those in the church and to the friends outside who have given me encouragement by their interest and co-operation. I now beg leave to submit to you my resignation as minister to this congregation, and ask that my resignation shall go into effect on the first day of October, 1902.

"Praying that you may have the guidance of the Great Founder of the church as you shall determine upon my successor, I am

"Faithfully yours,

"OSCAR LEE OWENS."

The announcement came wholly unexpected, as the pastor had won his way to the hearts of not only his congregation, but of many friends throughout the city, who have from time to time been edified by his fervent efforts.

When a News Review reporter interviewed Mr. Owens today, the latter stated that he had taken up the work

A UNANIMOUS CALL TENDERED DR. JONES

One of the largest congregations of Wucherer, of Cadmus street, the season was present at the morning service at the M. P. church yesterday. There were two reasons for this. One was the fact that Rev. David Jones, D. D., president of Adrian college, Mich., was to preach. The other was the regular communion service. Dr. Jones has many warm friends in this city. Immediately after the service another evidence of this was shown when, by a unanimous vote, Dr. Jones was extended a call to become pastor of the local church for one year. The call could just as well have been made for five years, except for the rule of the conference. There were several churches after Dr. Jones to be their pastor, particularly Calvary M. P. church, of Allegheny. This congregation next Wednesday will also extend a call to Dr. Jones, but the members of the M. P. church of this city will leave no stone unturned to persuade him to come here. While in this city Dr. Jones was entertained at the home of a niece, Mrs. George

A WILD MAN CAPTURED IN ST. CLAIR TOWNSHIP

Found Wandering Among the Hills, Where He Had Been For Several Days. Entirely Nude.

EATING GRASS WHEN THE OFFICERS SAW HIM.

While wandering among the hills of St. Clair township entirely destitute of clothing Charles Burbick, aged 27 years, was apprehended yesterday by Sheriff Leonard and Constable Powell.

The sheriff drove over from Lisbon in the morning and deputized the constable, saying that he had a hard case on his hands and needed a man of the constable's shrewdness to help him out. They, after dinner, drove to St. Clair township, where the relatives of Burbick had summoned them, and were told that young Burbick was roaming the hills and had been doing so for several days.

A search of several hours was made before the officers caught sight of their man. They were driving along the county road when the constable spied a man stark naked, peeping from behind a tree. He was also eating grass. Both officers alighted and started in the direction of the nude form.

It seemed to scare him, as he started on a run.

The sheriff pursued and when he got in hailing distance stopped the man by asking him if he wanted a chew of tobacco. Burbick is an inveterate user of the weed and is willing to do anything for a chew. Once getting at his side the sheriff induced him to find his clothing and then hired him as a hostler. By that means he got him over to the Lisbon jail.

Burbick belongs in St. Clair township. He was committed to the asylum at Massillon in 1897 and in 1893 he was released, much improved. He will be tried again for insanity and will likely be sent back to the asylum.

Richard Webber, a kilnhand at Knowles' new end, was stopped by Burbick near the Gibson farm, out California hollow, last Friday evening and requested some tobacco. Burbick stopped Webber's horse and throwing up his hands, made his demand. He was accommodated and then went back to the woods.

was also fined $1 and costs for drunkenness.

Adam Openheimer, while in an awful state of intoxication, was apprehended by Officer Dawson. When placed in jail he had a genuine case of "snakes." Physicians worked with him all of Saturday night and Sunday and at times it was thought he had consumed his last half pint. This morning he was some better and pleaded guilty to being drunk. He got $1 and costs.

Jack Dempsey pleaded not guilty to being drunk and the mayor set his trial for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

John Rowe, arrested by Officer McDermott, and Frank Lewis, by Officer Mahoney, both for being drunk, pleaded guilty and paid fines of $1 and costs.

Curley Brindley was run in this morning by Officer Woods for being drunk.

CUT COMPANION ABOUT THE NECK

Negro Wielded a Knife in a Lively Scrap on a Shanty Boat.

FATHER AND SON JAILED

Charged With Smashing Saloon Windows With a Brick—Others Who Came to Grief and Fines For Indulgence in Drink.

Mayor Davidson had a great lineup before him this morning. Some were there for being simply drunk; some for disorderly conduct, some for destruction of property, and one for using a knife.

William Brown, colored, a faithful employee of Harrison Pinehart, was arrested yesterday afternoon along with John Keeper, Edward Keeper and Homer Harrison, by Officers Dawson, Woods and Bryan. They were in a shantyboat owned by Brown and located near the old glass house. All agree that they were drunk and were having a great time. Brown claims that the three men, while visiting him, stole money out of a pair of his trousers which were on a chair, and that when he asked them to return it they refused, whereupon he started for them with a knife.

Harrison was the only one who received a wound. His neck was slashed open and he bled profusely. The three denied having taken any money, and stated that Brown had run them all into the river in an attempt to get money which they did not have. The mayor fined them all as much as the law permits, giving the whites $3 and costs each and the negro $10 and costs.

Terry Carman's saloon in Diamond alley was the scene of great excitement late Saturday night. David Mackey and his son, Charles entered the saloon shortly before 11 o'clock and had a few drinks. When the closing hour arrived the proprietor ordered the men to vacate. They refused and were forcibly ejected. They resorted to dangerous methods of getting even. The father found a brick in the alley, and breaking it in twain, gave one part to the son. They then counted one, two, three, and let the missiles go crashing through one of the large plate glass windows.

A crowd soon assembled and, with Carman in the lead, chased father and son down toward the city hall where they were arrested by Officers Saulsberry and Dunn. The elder Mackey agreed this morning to pay for the window and the son pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct. He was fined $3 and costs. The father

Thomas Raley, a well known lawyer of Akron, is at the home of his father, John Raley, at Signal, ill with smallpox. He has been ill since last Friday week, and the case is being looked after by the physicians at Rogers. The house has been quarantined and this morning an attempt was made to secure a nurse in this city to go to the Raley home. None was secured.

Similar requests were made at Pittsburgh and Cleveland without success. Raley is married and has a wife and one child at Akron.

A. K. OF C. COUNCIL

Preliminary Steps Taken Toward Organizing One in Salem.

Salem, August 4. — (Special) — A preliminary meeting was held here yesterday afternoon when the initial steps were taken for the formation of a council of the Knights of Columbus here. About 50 persons were present. A number of members from East Liverpool were present.

No applications for membership were taken, but it is believed the Salem council will be organized within a month.

Marriage Kept Secret.

A marriage that has been kept a secret for several days is that of Miss Nettie Herbert, of Lincoln avenue, and T. L. Patterson, a brother of William Patterson, of Mulberry street, East End. The young couple were married Wednesday evening and not until last evening did they make their marriage known. Mrs. Herbert is a sister of Fred Herbert, a well known newspaper man. The young couple will reside on Lincoln avenue.

WARMEST GAME SEEN THIS SEASON

Ten Exciting Innings Were Necessary to Give Parkersburg a Victory.

SCORE TIED IN THE NINTH

Up to That Time East Liverpool Had Made Nothing—Parkersburg Got Three in the Tenth And Cinched It. Locals Made No Errors.

It took ten of the hardest innings on record to decide the game in West End park between the locals and Parkersburg on Saturday afternoon. The boys from the West Virginia hills came out of the tussle victorious, and to them great credit is due. As is always the case they had the big majority of the fans against them, and in no previous game was the fact ever so cleverly demonstrated that with the crowd opposed, two battles are to be won before victory.

In the ninth inning the score stood 3 to 0 in favor of the men of Long Reach. Everything looked as if they would close the game, with the locals still credited with a goose egg. The crowd would not have it so. Had they not interfered, as they most certainly would not have done had the score stood in favor of the locals the shut-out would have been imminent. At the very start of the inning the big crowd, numbering at least 1,000, began one of the loudest and most hair-raising demonstrations ever heard on a local diamond. They surged forward to within a foot of the dead line and not a few infriended several feet across.

The howling, hooting and guying was on in full sway when Trainor walked on "hit by pitcher." Maley caused another outburst much superior to that occasioned by Trainor's luck when he got there on an error by the pitcher. Enthusiasm died down a little, however, when Maley went out on Gibson's walk through the fielder's choice racket. This left two men on bases, but only one out was scored. Davis felt that his time had come and boldly stepped forward to deal a death blow, but he was not destined to make his reputation everlasting. He fanned and the aspect was really discouraging. Two men out and a shutout staring fiercely at them they had the hard end of the row.

John Heckathorn, brother of "Big Heck," and conceded to be the fastest runner and best hitter on the team, failed to land, but did just as well. He had his eye with him and got a walk. The old standby, that young man with but one pin, that man who has today so many admirers that he complains of rheumatism in his arm as the result of being compelled to lift his hat at every step when he appears on the street, the Rt. Hon. Mr. Frederick Heckathorn, was the next to take his place at the plate. His left leg he extended half way down to the pitcher. His eyes flashed fire. His determination was quite evident. He was going to save the day or die in the attempt. That he didn't do it was no fault of his. With the fans screaming and in awful suspense, he dared not entertain a thought other than belting one for a home run.

"One ball," the umpire was heard to say. One strike. Two balls. Two strikes. Three balls. All hope was lost. Was he going to die on the home plate? Fred said no. The next ball was just his size and the way he landed. With the force of a maddened bull's charge he bumped against it. Down through the diamond it sped. Splitting the wind and spitting fire it was too much for the short stop to handle. Simultaneously every man on a base started on the run for their lives. Like frightened race horses they bounded.

During all of this time the fans were too wild to be justly described. Such yells and excitement could hardly be imagined. They ran out into the diamond and apparently were clutching at the ball which was not there. It had gone on past the short stop and was not clinched by Murphy in left field before two men had scored. He then also became excited and did his best to throw it up to the West End pottery. The fence was all that stopped

It is alleged that he gave a check for $5.00 on the Home bank, where he had no money on deposit.

There was very little hope for the recovery of Mr. C. L. Bailey, president of the Camden Interstate Electric railway, almost completely tied up the lines from Guyandotte, W. Va., to Hanging Rock, O., and intermediate points yesterday. In seven hours all the non-union men were driven from the cars in this city by violence. Crowds gathered at street intersections, hurling fruit, eggs and other missiles at motormen and conductors. At noon James Sanders, a union man, who refused to quit, was taken from his car and dragged toward the Ohio river. On promising not to resume his car he was escorted home in a roundabout way, to escape the crowds. The conductor on the same car and linemen were taken home in cabs to escape the mob. Cars were held up all over the city until noon, when traffic was suspended. Non-union men were also afraid to run through the crowds at Catlettsburg and Ashland, Ky., and other points on the Kentucky and West Virginia side of the Ohio river.

The Ironton strikers ran cars and secured more passengers than the street cars, women who chose that mode of conveyance in preference to street cars being cheered by the crowds. The concert at Beechwood park, the railway company's pleasure resort, was abandoned, the Ironton orchestra declining to play after the strike was declared. The crowds of union sympathizers had full sway without molestation from the authorities, not a policeman appearing at any of the points of disturbance. The local militia will leave for camp at Newary today, and the preservation of order will devolve upon the officials in case of more serious outbreaks almost certain to occur if the cars shall be operated.

Seth Vinsen, of Huntington, W. Va., general attorney of the Camden company, arrived here yesterday afternoon and held an informal conference with the strike leaders. He said the company was willing to recognize the union, but there were no assurances last night of a speedy settlement.

MAN FELL INTO THE RAVINE AND LAY UNCONSCIOUS.

It is Supposed He Was Drunk And Fell on Saturday Night.

A man with red hair and appearing to be not more than 25 years old was found almost dead this morning in a small ravine off Pennsylvania avenue on the road to East End. What the name of the man was and how long he had been in the ravine could not be ascertained in the East End this morning. From appearances those who found the man claim that he had been under the influence of liquor and that while walking along the road he staggered and fell into the ravine, where he remained until this morning.

It was evident that he had been there for some time, as his clothing was wet and his face terribly scarred. It is thought that he was knocked unconscious by his fall, and lay in that condition until found this morning shortly before 1 o'clock. It is evident that the man had fallen into the ravine Saturday night, and when found he was so weak that he could hardly walk.

A Reported Prize Fight.

It is said in the East End this morning that it just required three rounds only to finish a prize fight or a boxing match at Columbian park Saturday evening between 10 and 11 o'clock. The principals in this affair were said to be Laughlin and Anthony, well known young men of Chaffinville. Laughlin, after fighting three fierce rounds in the presence of a good crowd, is reported to have won. Considerable money is said to have changed hands as a result of the fight. It was supposed the fight would take place at Beaver Falls, but late in the week this arrangement was discarded.

RURAL CONNECTICUT

THE OLD STYLE OF AGRICULTURE
AND THE NEW.OLD TIME YANKEE DISAPPEARING FROM
NEW ENGLAND—An Old Region For
Vacationing to Be Found in the Nutmeg State.

(Special Correspondence.)

Wilton, Conn., August 4.—What it would be like here in the winter, with the thermometer occasionally dropping to 15 below and no furnaces under the houses, mostly wooden and old, the city dweller cannot contemplate without a shiver. But now in the glory of summer, with the sweet fruits and juicy vegetables in their prime, with the aroma of grass, Jersey butter and cream in his nostrils, their flavor, "ausgezeichnet," upon his tongue, he says it is a paradise for summer vacationing.

Some of the farmers still left in this historic country are kind enough to take city boarders in summer. Of a Sunday afternoon the kindly farmer will hitch Dobbin to a light open road wagon and take the boarders driving over the long, flower scented, bush bordered roads.

"There," the farmer will say, "pointing to a hillside above a graveyard—"there the British crossed on their way down the valley during the Revolutionary war. And you see that brown house there. That was an inn at the time of the Revolution, and the British peppered it with bullets. A few years ago the bullet marks were still to be seen, but they've repaired the house and taken the battered boards out now."

The farmer, your host, is one of the new time Connecticuters. You listen for the dialect of the stage Yankee. You do not hear it. There is indeed in the accent of the country folk here about still a faint suggestion of the English of the "Biglow Papers," like—They didn't know everything down in Judee.

But only a suggestion. The older native will pronounce the word "idea" to rhyme with "Judee," but present generation Yankee English is the same as is heard among intelligent people

POWER WAS OFF

AND CARS BETWEEN THIS CITY
AND WELLSVILLE.IT TOOK FROM AN HOUR AND A HALF TO
TWO HOURS TO MAKE
THE TRIP.

A break in the mains of the Fort Pitt Gas company early Saturday evening caused no end of inconvenience to the traveling public of this city and Wellsville. It was one of those accidents that could not be forestalled, and for this reason no blame should be attached to the street railway company. It seems that when the gas gave out travel on the road was at its height, and for a trip from the square in Wellsville to the Diamond, car No. 19 consumed two hours, and other cars an hour and a half.

It was a trying trip to say the least. Car No. 19 left the square in Wellsville on time, shortly after 8 o'clock, and at the "Driven-From-Home" switch it met another car going west. As car No. 19 was ascending the hill the power became weak, and the motorman allowed it to fall back to the switch. There the car lay for 30 minutes. The power was then turned on and the car proceeded as far as Bratly's cut, when the motorman noticed another car leaving the Walker switch. Again the car was taken back to the "Driven-From-Home" switch. There it lay for considerable time. Again it went east and got as far as the Walker switch, and proceeded until it reached a point almost at the top of the grade east of Walker. It then returned to the Walker switch, for it was behind time and could not make the Jethro switch.

While the car was on the Walker switch the power again went off, and No. 19 remained there for almost an hour. Had it not been for the small boy with his mouth organ who was on the car, the passengers would have gone to sleep. The crowd on the car was a good natured one, and seemed to be content with the thought that they were in one car that did not leak while it was raining.

The employees at the power house converted the boilers so that coal could be used, and as soon as a sufficient amount of steam was raised the power was turned on.

Eczema, scald head, hives, itchiness of the skin of any sort instantly relieved, permanently cured. Doan's ointment. At any drug store.

UNDER HIS OWN CHERRY TREE. anywhere in this land of Bibles and public schools, where we all talk through our noses, heaven help us!

Still sunny, however, is your Connecticut native. For instance, when he sells from his poultry yard a spring broiler he first catches it according to cookbook directions, then ties its feet together, puts it upon his scales and weighs it alive, head, feet, feathers and all. That is the fashion here. In New York you pay 25 cents a pound for poultry, but your bird is dead and dressed. Here you pay 20 cents the pound for it, feathers and all, which about evens up the price with the city rate.

Poultry raising is profitable here if one conducts it scientifically, as some of the farm folk have learned to do and are consequently making out comfortably even on these stony farms. By the application of science to a hen she has been brought to the point where she yields a clean profit of $2 a year, and women and girls can take care of hens even better than men.

In the course of his drive the city dweller will see perhaps a prosperous farm place. A newly painted windmill waves its giant red arms slowly around. Beautiful shining Jerseys borse in the brilliant green pasture. The trim postoffice box of the rural free delivery scheme is at the front gate.

"I suppose," you say to your host, "that is a rich man's country place."

"No," replies he; "it's not. That belongs to old man Jayzie's son. He stayed at home and farmed it instead of going away to the city, and he makes it pay too. He has a young peach orchard of a thousand trees. He doesn't try to farm stony pasture land, as his grandfather did, but lets it be used as nature meant it." Jayzie junior himself sits under a cherry tree—it is Sunday afternoon—reading a magazine. He is very strong and manly looking and so up to date that he has on even the fashionable pink striped shirt.

The offer of Senator C. C. Connell, of Lisbon, to come to East Liverpool and take counsel with the citizens regarding what is desired in the new municipal code is one that should be thoughtfully considered and accepted. Those who are posted on public affairs in this city could doubtless offer suggestions, which, if carried out in legislation, might be of great utility and value, not alone to East Liverpool, but to other cities of the state whose population and needs are similar. The senator's desire to learn the wishes of his constituents before the legislature meets, that he may act according to them when the code question is before the legislature, is most commendable. Steps should at once be taken to arrange for a meeting and for expressions of opinion on the important questions to be settled. It is likely that the code bill to be enacted the coming fall will stand for years, and, special legislation having been put under the ban of the supreme court, changes will be difficult after it has become a law. It is therefore of the utmost importance that it should be a bill adapted not only to the present needs of cities, but one that will apply when their population has been doubled, as East Liverpool's population will be in a few years at the present rate of growth.

Congressman Bartholdt, of St. Louis, predicts victory for the Republicans in Missouri. Democratic administrations in that state have proven both incompetent and dishonest and there are signs of a public awakening to the fact.

The Danish American Isles are excited over the delay in annexation to the United States. Porto Rico's prosperity is an object lesson that makes the rest of the West Indies restless.

It was a Democratic tariff in 1894 that converted a Democratic majority of 100 in congress into a Republican majority of 140. The tariff is not a lucky Democratic issue.

The cotton mills of the south now represent an investment of $175,000,000. Agricultural development in that

OBITUARY

Constable James A. Miller.

James Alexander Miller died at 2:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon at his home in this city. His physicians state that death was the result of nervous collapse. At the home of Wilbur Miller, a son, on Sixth street, funeral services were conducted Sunday evening at 9 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Crawford preached the sermon and a quartet of the M. E. church choir sang. On the early train this morning the remains were shipped to Mechanicsburg for burial. A large number of relatives and friends accompanied the body.

Born in Carroll county on September 30, 1844, James A. Miller lived in that vicinity for 44 years. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Miller, the latter alone living at the age of 82 years. In the sixties he was married to Matilda L. Potts, a sister of Editor Potts, of Lisbon, and also of B. F. Potts, deceased, who was for over 12 years governor of Montana. To this union three boys were born, Wilbur C. Chalmers M. and Floyd L., all of whom are living in this city. Prior to moving to this city 14 years ago Mr. Miller was engaged extensively in the stock business. For years he shipped on every Saturday several carloads of stock of all kinds to the market at Pittsburgh. In this business he at one time accumulated considerable money but through a misjudgment he lost the most of it and finally decided to change his vocation. He was an expert in the matter of wool buying and made several trips through this section on that business. Buying a half interest in a butcher shop located on Washington street he and W. H. McLean carried on the business for five years, when Mr. Miller sold out and accepted a position with the Crocker City Milling company, where he worked for several years and then was employed by L. J. Magee, who conducted a feed store on Sixth street. In 1898 he was elected constable and held that position at the time of his death. He was at one time a member of the Methodist Episcopal church and the L. O. O. F. at Salineville.

Suspected of Theft.

Robert Davidson and George Laird, boys aged 12 and 14 years respectively, were arrested this morning and taken before the mayor to answer to a charge of larceny. They are suspected of taking four revolvers and a nickel plated watch from Watson & Sloan's hardware store, and will have a hearing later.

Candles.

"I thought candles went with stage-choir, but a good many people must use them yet," said a shopper who pointed to a collection of candlesticks, all of the utility sort, arrayed in a house furnishing department. There were big and little, ornamental and plain, practical and unpractical ones. Some had broad trays, and others had none at all, and some had devices for lifting the candle, while others were made with deep necks. There still remain people who cling to the traditions of their ancestors and will have none of the modern lighting inventions for their sleeping rooms. Certain women prefer a light in their bedrooms until they are asleep, and for this purpose a candle is just the thing, for it will put itself out at the time proportioned by its length.—New York Tribune.

Saw No Reason For Swearing.

General Grant was asked why he never swore. He replied: "Well, when a boy I had an aversion to swearing. It seemed useless, an unnecessary habit, and besides I saw that swearing usually aroused a man's anger. I early had a desire to have complete command of myself. I noticed when a man got angry his opponent always got the better of him. On that account also I determined to refrain from swearing. Then the swearing men of my acquaintance when a boy were not the best men I knew. I never saw any reason for swearing. All were against it."

Home Life In England and America.

The decay of the home life is to be attributed partially to the influence on society of the invasion of Americans.

In the United States home life is almost unknown. The meaning of the word "home," as understood to Britons, is a mystery to Yankees. To a certain extent we have always envied you your home life, and I certainly agree with some of your correspondents that it would be disastrous for your country to lose the elevating and refining influences of the home.—An Anglo-American in London.

TAWSBURY WON

C. A. Smith's Horses Conspicuous in the Brunot's Island Races.

The Pittsburgh papers of yesterday had this to say of the races at Brunot's Island track Saturday, in which several horses of C. A. Smith, of this city, were entered:

The patrons were treated to some splendid pacing in the third event.

Carrie Williams, W. A. Avery's bay mare, and C. A. Smith's Tawsbury, a gray mare, were the actors and they made a fine race. In the first heat Tawsbury got the pole and was slightly in the head when starting. She broke before reaching the quarter, however, and Carrie Williams forged ahead. Tawsbury recovered quickly after the brake, but could not regain the lead, although she made a desperate effort, and both horses finished in fast time, the mile in 2:14 1-2.

In the next heat the horses left the stand neck and neck and continued like a team to the half, which was made in 1:07 3-4. At the half Carrie Williams was leading by a length, but the horses were together again at the last quarter, and came down the stretch in a manner that set the crowd wild. Tawsbury passed under the wire about one foot in front of the bay mare, making the mile in 1:15. In the third heat both horses seemed to be slightly worn, though they went another good mile. They were promising another close finish, but Carrie Williams broke at the beginning of the stretch, and Tawsbury took a good lead before she could recover. Tawsbury won the heat by three lengths in 2:20.

Event No. 3, pacing, mile heats: Tawsbury, b. m. (C. A. Smith), 2 1 1 Carrie Williams, b. m. (W. A. Avery), 1 2 2 Time—2:14 1-2, 2:15, 2:20. Event No. 6, mile heats:

Lena H. (Denny) J. A. Chambers, 1 2 1 Wood Girl, b. m. (C. A. Smith), 3 1 2 Wert, b. g. (Robert Carson Jr.), 2. dr. Time—2:23 3-4, 2:24 1-2, 2:22 1-2.

EYES

Eye-strain arises chiefly from defects in the refraction of the eye and an imperfect equilibrium in the muscles which move the eye.

These conditions when present tend to cause an excessive expenditure of nerve-force by the individual in direct proportion to the amount of defect to be overcome.

Excessive expenditure of nerve-force upon any one organ is commonly made at the expense of some other organ, or, if not, is paid out of the "reserve" amount of nerve-force possessed by the individual.

The extent of the drafts thus made upon the "reserve-capital" and the amount of "reserve-capital" are the two factors which alone can determine, in any individual case, how long this state of affairs can last without causing "nervous bankruptcy."

The conditions mentioned as those which chiefly tend to cause eye-strain are transmitted from parent to child; hence they become operative at birth and last until death, unless mechanically or otherwise relieved.

They are capable of detection and accurate measurement during life by scientific procedures.

A condition of exhausted nervous vitality is sure to impair the general health in many ways, and to render the individual more liable to disease and physical vigor. Many of the constitutional diseases which ultimately imperil the lives of their victims are indirectly the result of a state of low nervous vitality in which is frequently the result of eye-strain,

WELLSVILLE

PRISONER WITH A HISTORY

Man Who Participated in a Memorable Jail Break at Wellsville Arrested.

Hugh Hinchcliffe, formerly of Wellsville, now a Pittsburgh police officer, identified a man in the latter city for stealing junk as "Red" Dobbins. Dobbins was held for court under $500 bond.

The man when arrested gave his name as Leonard McTaggart, but Hinchcliffe surprised him by calling him by his real name.

Nine years ago, says a Pittsburgh paper, Hinchcliffe was an officer in Wellsville when Dobbins was put in jail for a minor offense. He, with three others, tunneled his way out of jail, took refuge in a dugout along the river and, hanging out a red flag, defied arrest. In the fight that ensued, in which Officer Hinchcliffe participated, the sheriff was shot in the shoulder by Dobbins. He served two years in the Columbus penitentiary for it.

STREET RAILWAY PROMOTERS OTHERWISE READY TO BUILD.

S. B. Goucher Talks of the Prospects of the Proposed Chester-Congo Line.

S. B. Goucher, of the firm of Goucher & McIlwaine, who are interested in the Chester-Congo street railway, says they are only awaiting the decision of the Hancock county court of appeals to begin the work of construction of this line.

Attorney O. S. Marshall, for Johnson, the plaintiff in the Congo ferry case, asked for a continuance of the matter until the next term of court, which was granted, and it will probably be September before the matter is settled.

There may possibly be a bridge in connection with this new street railway venture from the west end of East Liverpool over to Newell, which would make an entirely independent street railway line operating on both sides of the Ohio. The matter all depends, however, on a favorable decision for Messrs. Goucher & McIlwaine in the Hancock county court of appeals.

AN INDUSTRIAL TOWN

With a Tin Mill and Other Factories to Be Built at Mahan.

The long talked of deal by which the Mahan and Hamilton tracts of land in Cross Creek district are transferred to a company of Washington, Pa., and Pittsburgh capitalists with Cyrus Ferguson, of McDonald, as agent, has been consummated, says the Wellsville Herald, and an industrial town with Folinsbee Bros.' tin plate mill and other factories as a nucleus. This is an entirely different deal from that in which T. J. and H. B. Mahan sold their farms for cash.

The property just sold consists of the Jos. Hamilton farm of 300 acres; Richard Mahan 50 acres; Frank Mahan 100 acres and W. B. Mahan 190 acres in all of first and second bottom. The price paid was $500,000 and the following reservations were made: Richard Mahan, house, barn and two acres; James Hamilton, W. B. Mahan and Frank Mahan each two acres for building sites—all the ground reserved being contiguous and located on the Stenhouse-Elderville road.

The lower sash was raised and the bullet went through both panes and passed over the bed where Mr. Howard was sleeping. He has no idea who fired the shot or why it was done, but thinks it probable that some one on the river was foolishly handling a revolver.

The car was loaded with people, and but for the timely discovery, would have been derailed and some one injured.

The Teaching of Suffering.

Rev. W. B. Gillis, of the U. P. church, chose for his theme last night "The Moral Teaching of Suffering," and the sermon was most interesting and instructive. Joy and sorrow were twin forces of this life. Fidelity to Christ's cause and love for one's fellow men were indications of the Savior's plan of redemption. Self-restraint must be followed by suffering before perfection was reached.

Wanted to Whip Everybody.

A Pittsburgh structural ironworker ran amuck at Rock Springs bars Saturday evening, and wanted to whip everybody on the grounds. Officers Hassey and Elliott accommodated him, and he fought with the officers all the way to the lockup. Squire Johnston gave him $9.60 later, which he paid and was released. Two others, intoxicated, were escorted to the train by Officer Hassey.

Production Growing Steadily.

The production of the Turkeyfoot extension oil field is steadily increasing, the daily production now aggregating 1,500 barrels. The entire Turkeyfoot field is now doing 2,000 barrels per day. This is nearly as good as in the palmy days of the field, and farmers and operators are elated over the future prospects of the field.

An Enjoyable Concert.

The concert at the park Sunday afternoon and evening was fairly well attended. Nowling's orchestra rendered some pleasing numbers, and were liberally applauded. In the afternoon many left the grounds own to the approaching storm.

CHESTER NOTES.

CERVERA AT HIS HOME.

How the Spanish Admiral Is Spending His Declining Years.

Contrary to reports recently printed in the United States, Admiral Cervera, who commanded the ill-fated Spanish fleet at the naval battle of Santiago, is not suffering from the neglect and contempt of his countrymen.

Quite the reverse, in fact, is the admiral's position in Spain. He is spending his declining years at Puerto Real, a few miles distant from Cadiz, and spends many a day at the naval club in the old city founded by the Phoenicians, where he is the object of much solicitude, attention and affection. Puerto Real has been nicknamed by the Spaniards the navy's "Pensionopolis," for at least one-tenth of its inhabitants are retired naval officers.

The house in Santo Domingo street which is Admiral Cervera's home, although modest in size and appearance, is one of the best in the little seaport city. It wears an air of comfort and cheerfulness, even of luxuriance.

Here, surrounded by a numerous contingent of sons and daughters and their children, the old sea dog spends his days with his books. The den of Admiral Cervera is as neat and cozy as a ship's cabin, the flat top desk, medium sized bookcase and two or three chairs filling nearly all the available space.

The routine of his life, as recently explained by himself, consists of reading naval reports from different parts of the world, attending to correspondence, etc., which take up his morning hours. In the afternoon he visits the casino, where he meets his old comrades in arms. This is varied by occasional trips to Cadiz.

The admiral draws half pay from the government and besides has quite a little fortune of his own. He owns half a dozen houses and considerable land in the township of Medina Sidonia, the home of the misquives of Cervera. The admiral's father was a wealthy man, but as he left many children the parental fortune has been so split up that none of his heirs can be considered rich. Nevertheless the admiral wants for none of the comforts of life, nor does he lack the friendship and respect of his countrymen.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

A CERAMIC SCHOOL.

The recent publication in this column suggesting an art pottery in this city has created much favorable comment. It must be understood that in presenting this matter to the reading public, there was but one thing in mind—that of increasing the production of ware in this city in a line not heretofore undertaken. Should an art pottery be established, the matter of forming a school for the development of potters' talents should not be lost sight of. It is by education that progress is made in any line of business, and where is there a business today that could be more uplifted by education than the pottery trade? Go into almost any pottery in East Liverpool and walk through the pressing shop. Nine times out of ten you will find drawings on the wall that were made by a presser. This proves that the presser has talent for this particular kind of work, and he could no doubt earn more money, and be of more service to the firm by which he is employed, if he was employed in a decorative department. But for the lack of education in the line of drawing and painting, this presser is compelled to work in the clay day in and day out, year in and year out. No advancement, no place to develop his talents. He is to be pitied. Then why not a school of ceramics embracing all departments of a pottery? One of the leading manufacturers of the city a few days ago made the following statement: "I would be willing, in fact I would only be too glad, to put from $50 to $500 in a project of this sort. I would soon have it returned to me ten fold. It is the only logical way to educate the rising generation in the art of pottery making. But I would follow a plan something like this: If I noticed an employee having a special taste for drawing, I would place him in the decorating or art department of the school; if an employee showed a taste or talent to be a presser, and he was employed in another department of the pottery, then I would see to it that he received the proper instruction. All these little things help in one's life, and if the facilities for education are not at hand, then the entire community has sustained a loss, perhaps not just at this time, but it will be a loss of the future that could have been avoided." Many similar expressions have been heard.

TIED UP THE SHOP.

One of the most laughable strikes that has ever been known occurred at Laughlin No. 3 this morning. In the bigger shop a clay carrier named Wright is employed. As in all other shops, he is paid by the men working in that shop. Saturday he received his wages for ten days' work, all that the jiggermen claim was due him. Wright, however, desired a compensation for 12 days, but the men refused to give him this, claiming that he only worked 10 days. Wright said that his family was ill and he needed the money, and asked pay for two more days, refusing to work unless the pay was allowed. This morning the entire bigger shop was compelled to stop work. The jiggermen will secure another clay carrier.

ROUBLE OVER TOOLS.

A forerunner of what may occur if the jiggermen persist in enforcing the new rule calling for the finishers to purchase their own tools took place at the Union when Miss Celia Albager, finishing for Fred Goppert, asked him for a sponge. Goppert said the union had decided to insist on the finishers furnishing their own tools, and he refused to give her a sponge. Miss Albager refused to purchase her own sponge, as she was instructed by her local to not do so. A committee from the finishers was circulating among those employed at this branch, instructing them to purchase nothing. Goppert is loafing and is unable to get a finisher.

A SEVERE SPRAIN.

While working at Laughlin No. 2 Saturday morning, A. J. Pollock accidentally sprained his back in such a manner that he was unable to carry any saggers into the kiln on that day. He had been at the bench but an hour in the morning when the accident occurred. Mr. Pollock kept at work, however, by placing the saggers on the bench, and from there they were carried into the kiln by his fellow workmen. It is evident that all the men in Mr. Pollock's crew are bent on helping one another.

IDLE FOR A FEW DAYS.

The East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe company Saturday afternoon stopped making pipe for a few days. This is caused by the company making a number of improvements at the plant. One press has been in operation at this plant for the past two weeks, while the second press was idle on account of some changes being made to it. Now both presses are stopped, and they will not be started for a week at least. The engines will be run for a few days, or until the kiln-placers clean the plant of all the pipe now being dried. It is thought this will be done before the improvements are completed.

HIT BY A TRAIN.

John Allender, a saggermaker at the Steubenville pottery, was struck by a Panhandle freight in that city Friday night and received an injured shoulder and had his right ear nearly cut off. He also suffered internal injuries, but not serious.

NEW CLAY MINE.

The Forest City Sewer Pipe works of the American Sewer Pipe company, at Toronto, have completed their new clay mine entry of 150 feet, at a great cost. The new entry and tramway will afford better ingress and egress to the clay mine. A new clay crusher will also be located at the opening of the tramway.

INTERESTING SESSION.

Packers' local No. 25 held an interesting session last Friday night. Matters of a routine nature were discussed in the main. One transfer card was received at this session, that being deposited by Grayde Coleman, of Ford City, Pa., who came here a few days ago from that shop to look for work in this city.

TOOK AN ADVISOR ALONG.

Taylor Larkins and Mike O'Brien, well known kilnmen residing in the East End, left for the south Saturday evening to purchase a horse. Mr. Larkins proposed to purchase the animal, and in order to not get the worst of the deal asked Mr. O'Brien to make the trip with him to act as judge, so to speak.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS.

The Barberville (O.) sewer pipe plant of the American Sewer Pipe company, has been completely overhauled and much improvement made. This is perhaps the largest plant in the American's possession, having between 40 and 50 kilns and mammoth buildings.

Charles Knoblock, who accidentally ran a nail in the muscle of his left arm a few days ago while packing a case at the D. E. McNicol pottery, is improving quite rapidly, and it will be but a few days until he is able to resume his work.

It is the intention to organize a mixed local at Barberville just as soon as that shop is in steady operation. President A. S. Hughes lately made a trip to Barberville. The workers will soon hold a meeting to organize.

E. A. Crawford, one of the salesmen for the Smith-Phillips plant, left Friday evening for an extended fall trip. It is expected that he will remain out for several months.

William Fickes is a new glazier kilnman at the C. C. Thompson pottery.

AMONG THE POTTERS.

Frank Way, a kilnplacer at R. Thomas & Sons' porcelain works, is off duty from illness.

Charles Smita and William Haas have accepted positions as pinmakers at the Louthan Supply company's pottery.

The Brazil (Ind.) sewer pipe plant of the American Sewer Pipe company is the largest western plant of the company, and is running to its fullest capacity.

The Freeman fire brick works of the American Sewer Pipe company, are running to their fullest capacity and turning out between 35,000 to 50,000 brick per day.

Kilndrawers' local No. 17 held an interesting meeting Saturday evening, the first that had been held for two weeks. The attendance was just fair, and important business was transacted.

William Hardie, a diper at Laughlin No. 3, is now taking a vacation, which commenced Saturday afternoon and will last for two weeks, during that time he will visit several of the eastern summer resorts and also New York.

Poke Little, for many months employed at Laughlin's No. 2 as a decorative kilnman and who has been unable to work for some time on account of illness, is now able to be out. Within a short time he expects to leave on an extensive western trip for the benefit of his health.

Cooper's Local Officers.

The Coopers' local No. 71, C. I. U. of N. A., at their last meeting elected the following officers: President, Isaac Beardmore; vice president, James Douglass; financial secretary, Herbert Everett; recording secretary, W. J. Day; treasurer, Samuel Donovan; sergeant-at-arms, J. Kilmyre; inner guard, Brady Wolf; outer guard, Harry A. Douglass; reporter, W. S. Dorff; delegates to the international convention, W. J. DON'T EXPECT ATTEMPT TO RUN!

Mitchell Said as to This Week—Citizens' Organization to Ask Arbitration.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 4.—President

Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, made another visit to Scranton yesterday. Before going he said there was no change in the strike situation. He did not think that an attempt would be made to resume work at any of the collieries the coming week.

From what he could learn the Oxford mine, in the Lackawanna region, was being operated by new men. None of the old employees had returned and at a meeting they pledged themselves not to return.

Mr. Mitchell said the same conditions prevailed throughout the entire region. The strikers were still confident they were going to win and so long as they felt that way there was little probability that they would report for work.

It was reported yesterday that work would be resumed at the Woodward colliery of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company today or to-morrow and that a number of old firemen would report for work. State Secretary J. F. Mullahy, of the State Firemen's Association, did not think that any of the firemen would go back, but lest some of them had such intention, he issued an address yesterday, urging all striking firemen to keep away from the mine and to stand by Mitchell until the strike was over.

The Public Alliance and the Workingmen's Alliance, two organizations said to be opposed to the Citizens' Alliance, have been organized here. They will send a petition signed by thousands of citizens to the coal operators, asking them to arbitrate, and if they refuse Governor Stone will be requested to take some action to compel the coal companies to come to terms with their employees.

IRELAND'S WARNING

Advises Agitators Among Catholics to Hold Their Peace.

AMERICA IS ALWAYS JUST.

Public Agitation Not Necessary—Anyhow, the Friars' Question Is in the Hands of Pope Leo—Clerks Do Not Represent the Church.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 4.—Archbishop Ireland, preaching Sunday morning in the cathedral, said in part:

"The Apostle Paul gives this counsel, 'Not to be more wise than it becometh to be wise, but to be wise unto sobriety, and according as God hath divided to every one the measure of faith.' In the mind of the apostle, things most excellent if made use of in undue measure and without proper regard for circumstances, of time and place, change into things perilous and hurtful. And this is undoubtedly what is happening in the case of the fiery zeal in defense of Catholic interests which seems to be coveting an explosion at the present time among certain classes of American Catholics. The interests of the church it is said, are made to suffer at the hands of the government in its newly acquired dependencies, and the call to arms is sounded from the rostrums of Catholic societies, and through the columns of Catholic papers to the perturbation of the whole Catholic body and indeed of the whole country. The moment has come to say to Catholics, 'Be wise, be zealous, unto sobriety, and according as God hath divided to every one the measure of faith,' and such a counsel I take the liberty to give to my hearers.

Clerks Don't Represent Church.

"Who are they, who complain and protest and call upon Catholics to be up and doing? Are they those who might claim to represent the church in its general or even local interests?

Has the sovereign pontiff spoken? Certainly he has not complained;

rather he has been heard from in very different tones. Have the ecclesiastical authorities in the dependencies invoked our aid? In no instance have they so acted; where they have been heard from, as in the case of Porto Rico and of Cuba, it was to tell us in plainest words that they had no grievance, although from irresponsible sources it had been, on several previous occasions, dinned into our ears that the church was ill-treated and persecuted in both those islands. Bishop Blenck, of Porto Rico, openly rejoices that the American flag, rather than the Spanish, guards his diocese; and the hierarchy in Cuba are thanking God that church interests there were settled by the government at Washington before a Cuban parliament was allowed to sit down in Havana. The archbishops of the states meet together once a year in Washington, each one representing the whole hierarchy. It can not be said that they are heedless of the welfare of the church; and yet they have sounded no alarm. Whatever complaints have been heard from either individual Catholics or from societies of Catholics; in neither case is there warrant to represent others than the men themselves, or the societies themselves who do speak. Societies of Catholics are organized for purposes of their own, usually with the intent to secure special aid or comfort to such as are members thereof. Restricted to those purposes, they are within their sphere and are entitled to respect. To venture beyond those purposes and assume general direction of the church is quite another thing. It must be remembered that there are hundreds of thousands of good and intelligent Catholic laymen members of no mutual benevolent society, who have commissioned no society to speak for them. It must be remembered also that soldiers of the church as soldiers of an army of whatever kind, whether singly or whether in companies or regiments, must await the action of the commanders before they undertake to act for the whole organization. 'Be wise according as God hath divided to every one the measure of faith.'

America Willing to Give Justice.

"Nor is public agitation necessary in America to redress grievances, if grievances do exist, whether such grievances have origin as is more often the case, from mere inadvertence or as it more rarely happens from malice aforethought on the part of individual officials of the government. I say it advisedly, and I am prepared to stand by what I here say, there is always redress from grievances, so far as circumstances may allow, if it is sought through quiet and reasonable methods, from the high representatives of the government let justice be done to America; in no other country is there a government so far-minded, so impartial, so willing to treat all classes of citizens with absolute justice as that with which we are blessed in America.

The logic of the situation in presence of strange complications for church and state arising from a change of sovereignty in the Philippine Islands pointed to a mutual confidence between the head of the church and the state as the proper and dignified way to a final and peaceful solution. Leo XIII saw this. Theodore Roosevelt saw this. Leo took the initiative, proposed the conference, and asked the government to expose frankly and thoroughly its views. The president and his advisers accepted the proposition. What more could have been done by the administration to prove its good will and sense of justice? If the administration had refused to send a representative to Rome, verily what clamorings there would have been; and now, when it has sent a representative to Rome and agrees to the further proposal of the Vatican to transfer negotiations to Manila, clamorings are still raised. Well, some people are born to clamor; and privilege to clamor must be allowed to them. Be it so; but we shall insist that they clamor in their own name and not in the name of the church in America, and for our own part we shall hold ourselves in peace, leaving church interests in the Philippines to one who understands them as well at least as we do and who will be as wise in disposing of them as we could well hope to be—Leo XIII."

FAPAL DELEGATE TO MANILA.

The Vatican Trying to Secure an American For the Post.

Rome, August 4.—The delay in appointing an apostolic delegate to Manila is due to the desire of the Vatican authorities to please the authorities at Washington by sending to the Philippines an American prelate, and the Vatican has been awaiting letters from the United States. The prelate who it was thought likely will accept is thoroughly adapted to the mission.

Should the plan fall through, the most probable candidate is Mgr. Guidi, now in the office of Cardinal Rambolla, the papal secretary of state.

COUPLE ON LONG WALK.

Elpers From Dayton, O., Going From Washington Back Home.

Baltimore, Aug. 4.—To walk from Richmond, Va., to Dayton, O., is the task set by a young couple who left here Sunday. They stated at the office of the superintendent of charities that they had eloped from Dayton four months ago and had gone to Washington, where they were married. This part of the story was substantiated by the marriage certificate which they exhibited. From Washington they said they had gone to Richmond, where the young man had secured employment as a conductor on a trolley car. Then came a strike and the husband lost his position. His funds were not strong and they decided that he would be better off at Dayton, especially as there did not seem to be any way of making a living for himself and wife in Richmond, where he is confident of securing employment in Dayton.

They had very little money and decided to walk and started out heading for Baltimore as one of the stopping places. It has taken them four weeks to get here.

The officials refused to give the names of the couple but said the man is 27 years old and his wife 17. They decided to accept transportation to Dayton but were provided with shoes.

THREE ATTACKS ON THE TROOPS.

Stones Thrown on Saturday Night.

One of the Assailants Caught—He Will Be Turned Over to the Civil Authorities Today.

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 4.—The entire Eighth regiment was called to arms during Saturday night as a result of three attacks made by a band of men in ambush, who threw stones at the troops now in camp on the plateau outside the town. These attacks were becoming so frequent that Brigadier General Gobin decided to adopt stern measures to end them. Last night a double guard, supplied with ball cartridges, surrounded the camp, and the sentries were instructed that if Saturday night's stone throwing was repeated they must shoot to kill and investigate afterwards. One of the attacking party, a Lithuanian named William Stoponitz, was arrested and confined in the guard tent and the provost marshal was on the trail of the others. It was not known how many were in the crowd, but the officers of the Eighth regiment believed the number to have been more than a dozen.

A Guard Knocked Down.

The first attack, according to Colonel Theodore F. Hoffman, was made at 10:45 o'clock Saturday night. Private Payne, of Company I, on sentry duty, saw a party of men on the Mahanoy City road, which separates the camp of the Eighth regiment from the Twelfth. He commanded the men to halt and called the corporal of the guard, but before the latter could respond a shower of stones and rocks were thrown at the sentry. One rock struck him on the chest, knocking him down and causing his gun to fall from his hands; he immediately jumped up and fired several shots in the air. As he did so the men ran down the road and were pursued by several strangers. The outpost, which had been stationed some distance from the camp, heard the shots and one of the sentries, Captain Stepanowicz, as he came running, said, "The guard is shot." The others scattered.

As shooting continued the whole camp and the Eighth regiment was put under arms and companies B, E and K were immediately thrown out in skirmish lines. They beat the underbrush and laurel, which is six or six feet high, all around the camp, but they could find no one. The regiment was then called to quarters and 15 minutes later another shower of stones was thrown at the stable guard, which is located south of the Eighth regiment. The guard turned out and three men were seen running along the road in opposite directions from where the outpost was situated. The strangers were not pursued.

Regiment Sounded to Arms.

Shortly after 3 o'clock Sunday morning the third and last attack was made, and it was of such a nature that the bugler, under orders from Colonel Hoffman, sounded the whole regiment to arms. This time the stable guard was again the object of the mysterious attack. Stones in volleys were thrown at the guard and at the sentries nearby. On account of the laurel underbrush and the darkness the soldiers could not see the offenders. However, the sentries fired about a dozen shots into the bushes, but no one was hit. Some of the bullets were still whistling over the tents of the sleeping soldiers of the Twelfth regiment, located across the road.

The noise of the firing and the bugle call to arms stirred up the Twelfth regiment and the Governor's troop of cavalry, which is located close to the Eighth regiment. Colonel Clement of the Twelfth regiment sent out detachments to investigate the trouble, as did also Captain Ott in command of the cavalry. The Eighth regiment, Colonel Hoffman said, was under arms and ready for action in three minutes. Another thorough investigation was made without result and then the command, after standing in formation for 20 minutes, was called to quarters and not again disturbed.

The Prisoner Examined.

Colonel Hoffman made a full report to Brigadier General Gobin, who came to camp during the forenoon to make a full investigation. He put Stoponitz through a searching examination. The prisoner said there were only four men in the party. He gave the name of one of them as Michael Lavotiz and said he did not know who the others were. While under exam-

HUCKSTERS OBJECT

WILL FIGHT GROCERS' PROPOSITION TO TAX THEM.

CLAIM THEY ARE ENTITLED TO DO BUSINESS WITHOUT PAYING LICENSE FEE.

The hucksters of the city will not let the Grocers' association petition to council pass without fighting the measure to impose a license upon them. They allege that a number of grocers peddle bread, vegetables, etc., and that a great deal of their produce is shipped here from points down the river, and that they have been the first ones to cut prices on green stuff.

The hucksters allege that their trade is a legitimate calling; they are residents of the city, pay taxes and share in general in the city's business and prosperity. The state law, they claim, entitles them to sell anything manufactured or raised in the state of charge and they claim to be therefore entitled to the same privileges accorded any other business man.

Another claim that they make is that they do not handle any foreign goods, and the country surrounding, which is in part East Liverpool territory, is drawn upon for their supplies, while the stock of the grocers comes for the most part from foreign dealers. These matters probably will be put in form to present to council when the license comes up for consideration.

The hucksters offer no kick against the grocers acting against those coming from West Virginia, as they are certainly foreign dealers, and no objection would perhaps be made by the city hucksters against licensing them.

The combination of the savings of men and women of limited means brought about by the savings bank of the country furnishes the capital for the largest undertakings of municipal and private corporations.

KNOXVILLE OIL FIELD

NOW HAS 15 PRODUCING WELLS AND A LARGE NUMBER DRILLING.

Knoxville, O., August 4.—(Special)—The oil field at Knoxville, Jefferson county, is beginning to attract considerable attention. There are now 15 producing wells in this field.

The Swickard well has pumped 50 barrels every day since it was brought in a few weeks ago. The Stokes Nos. 4 and 5 will reach the sand this week. The Tri State Gas company's No. 4, on Stokes' farm, have a fishing job; E. E. Tracey's No. 2, Sarah P. McClelland farm, is drilling. The Keewaunee Oil company's No. 6 rig on the J. L. Blackburn farm, has been located on the Morrow heirs' farm. The Cross Creek Oil & Gas company's No. 2, on the M. L. Given farm, will reach the sand Tuesday. Morrow Bros.' No. 7, G. W. Morrow, will be in the sand today. L. D. Dugart & Co., Morrison heirs, rig started.

This is more activity than is displayed in any of the surrounding fields.

Another claim that they make is that they do not handle any foreign goods, and the country surrounding, which is in part East Liverpool territory, is drawn upon for their supplies, while the stock of the grocers comes for the most part from foreign dealers.

These matters probably will be put in form to present to council when the license comes up for consideration.

The C. & P. officials are still making changes along the line of the road, especially on the river division. Pearl Hastings, who for six years has been an operator at Toronto, and considered one of the best along the line, was promoted to Mingo Junction, a most important position with a good raise in salary. H. C. Porter, located at Freeman's Station, goes as day man to Toronto, and a night operator has also been put on at this latter point.

A permanent operator for Freeman's has not yet been appointed. Charles Forbes, operator at Mingo, has been appointed assistant ticket agent at Steubenville.

TRAGIC STORY RELATED OF A BROTHER MURDERED

Dick Carson Tells of His Brother Oliver's Disappearance From This City and His Death by Foul Means.

THE GIRL HE LOVED LEFT WITH THE SLAYER

It will be news to most people in East Liverpool that Oliver Carson, a former resident of this city is dead, and still more startling news to them that he was murdered.

After an absence of six years Richard Carson, more familiarly known to East Liverpool people as "Dick," drifted into the city last Friday morning, and remained until Saturday evening. The mere mention of his having been in the city for the two days implies no particular significance, but a story which he related to a News Review reporter will be read with the greatest interest, especially because it pertains wholly to the fate of his brother.

"Do you remember Oliver Carson, my brother?" asked Dick. "Yes, I guess you do. Well, poor Oliver is dead, and he met his death in a manner which I will not soon forget. You know he came to this city in 1894 from Westmoreland county, Pa., and obtained employment at Cartwright's pottery as an apprentice kilnman. He was a rather quiet fellow, but I guess everybody knew him before he left town, and I think he was liked generally.

"He worked in the potteries for over two years, and during that time accumulated $500. Always having a desire to make money and be his own boss, he decided in 1896 to purchase a shantyboat, stock it with ware and sell it to residents of towns down along the Ohio river. I never discouraged him, and was happy when he left the city one day on his own boat for southern points.

"There was a girl in East Liverpool to which he had become much attached, and he did not want to leave her. She seemed to return his love, and when he asked her to keep house for him on his long trip she readily consented to do so, and both left as happy as a couple could be. Her name was Maude Parker and she was one of the most beautiful women I ever saw. Who her parents were I never knew, but I understand she was born and reared in East Liverpool, and that she was employed in a local pottery as a dippers' helper. Well, both had been away for about six months, and at the expiration of that time, neither having written to me, I became anxious. Finally, fearing that something serious had happened to them, I gave up my job at Cartwright's where I was employed as a kilndrawer, and started on a search. After a careful inquiry all along the river between here and Cincinnati, I found them located at Newport, Ky. Things were not then as they were when the couple left.

"With them I found a young man, Phillip Kain by name. He had been taken into the household by my brother as a helper. I was not there long until I noticed something which my brother had never even suspected. Kain and Maude were becoming fast friends. A week or so rolled by and I kept my eyes and ears open.

"I thought that they were forming some sort of a plot to get rid of Oliver, and told him so, but he would not believe it, and kept on industriously working as if nothing had occurred.

"One cool September evening as the sun was vanishing behind the hills my suspicions proved only too true. Oliver was just returning from a visit in Newport, and was scarcely half way up the gang plank leading to the houseboat when the stillness of the river air was broken by the sounds in quick succession of pistol shots. Oliver had taken his last step. With a loud, heart rending scream, he threw his hands above his head and fell backward into the water—dead.

"The rest of the story is short. Kain, through the influence of a church to which he belonged, was acquitted of the terrible crime notwithstanding that I was an eye witness. The girl knew where Oliver's money was hidden; took it and left with Kain for parts unknown. Since then I have been almost heart broken, and have traveled all over the country making my living at banjo playing and acting the part of a comedian in a show."

freaks were also greatly in evidence. The central school building was struck with slight damage.

A horse belonging to J. H. Mayhew, son of J. N. Mayhew, whose barn was struck by the lightning at Fairview, was struck during the storm and killed instantly. The animal was a valuable one, and was out in a field near Mr. Mayhew's home.

Ex-Sheriff Robert Lindsay's home on lower Ridge avenue at New Cumberland, was also struck by lightning during the storm, and caught fire, but the flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

The storm also struck Wellsville with violent force about 8 o'clock Saturday evening, and the streets near the Lisbon road were rendered impassable. The street cars were forced to stop for a time.

In the vicinity of Clarkson and Negley, in this county, the storm was quite severe. At Negley the large barn of Mr. McVicker's was struck by lightning, causing it to burn to the ground. No stock in the barn was injured.

At Clarkson the residence of Clark Warrick was struck, the lightning tearing some slate from the roof and knocking the telephone from the wall of the house. No person was injured.

PROMINENT COUPLE

Celebrated the Fifty-Sixth Anniversary of Their Marriage—A Veteran Teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Urquhart, who reside near Steubenville, celebrated their fifty-sixth marriage anniversary. Mr. Urquhart, who was born in Cadiz in 1873, and his wife, who was born in France, is 77 years of age. Mr. Urquhart taught school for 52 years in five counties in eastern Ohio and one county in West Virginia. Mr. Urquhart frequently contributes articles to the secular and religious press.

Mrs. Urquhart has the honor of being the only woman in Jefferson county to be naturalized to vote.

BARN BURNED BY LIGHTNING

Have wrought by Saturday Night's Storm in Neighboring Districts.

OIL DERRICKS ALSO STRUCK

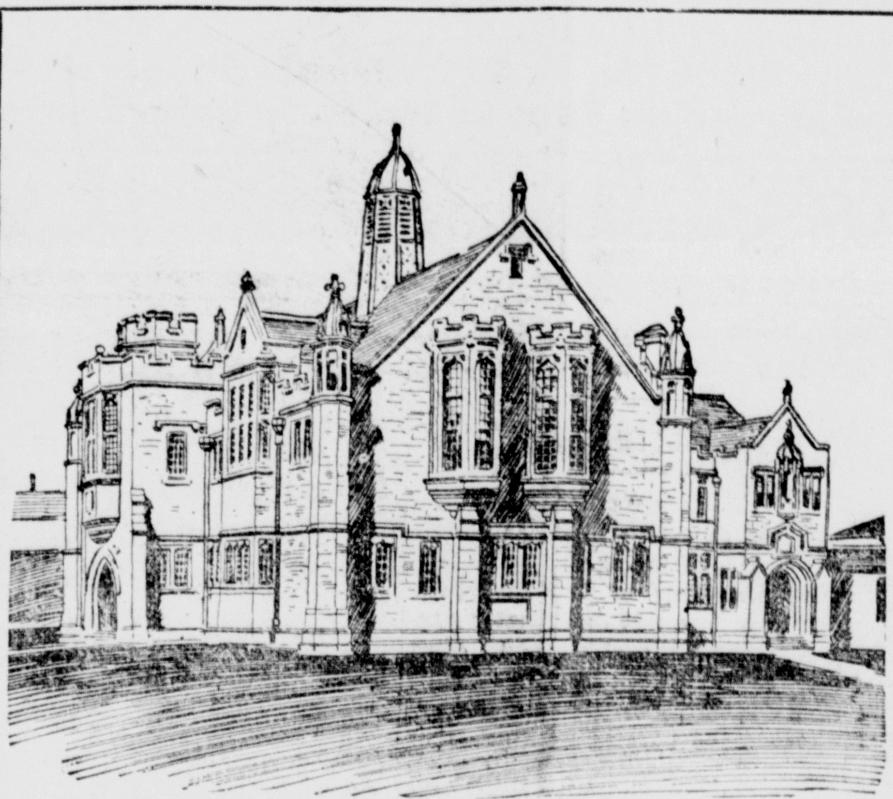

Near New Cumberland J. N. Mayhew Met With a Heavy Loss—Barn Near Negley Destroyed—Other Buildings Damaged—Horse Killed.

About Fairview and New Cumberland Saturday night, the storm was very severe and wrought havoc along its path, the lightning being unusually vivid and sharp.

Near Fairview the big barn, 80x40 feet, of J. N. Mayhew, father of George Mayhew, the East Liverpool grocer, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Mr. Mayhew had just finished his harvest and the barn was filled with hay, wheat and harvesting implements and all were completely destroyed. The loss to Mr. Mayhew will reach $1,000. The barn, however, was insured, but will only partially cover the loss.

During the storm also, three oil derricks were struck in the Turkeyfoot extension field, and on account of the presence of gas in two of them both were totally destroyed by fire, while the third was saved by great effort. An East Liverpool citizen who passed through the district yesterday says the storm wrought havoc everywhere. He passed a tree which had been struck and scattered over two acres of ground, showing the great force of the lightning.

At New Cumberland the lightning's

THE FIRST GLADSTONE MEMORIAL LIBRARY BUILDING.

An appropriate and somewhat pretentious memorial to the late William E. Gladstone is the library building recently completed at Hawarden, England. The structure, the style of which is a modified Gothic, stands on an eminence and is one of the most conspicuous objects in the neighborhood. The interior is finished in antique oak. The cost of the building was defrayed by national subscriptions.

PASTOR OWENS HAS RESIGNED

Minister Surprised Baptist Congregation at Services Yesterday.

ON ACCOUNT OF ILL HEALTH

He Will Seek to Recuperate And Then Go to Another Field of Labor. Church Has Greatly Prospered During His Ministrations.

The congregation of the First Baptist church, of Fifth street, were treated to a great surprise yesterday morning when the pastor, Rev. Oscar L. Owens, announced his resignation to an unusually large audience. His letter of resignation follows:

"To the Members of the First Baptist Church.

"Dear Brethren:—We have now entered upon the last two months of the pastoral year. During the ten months that have just passed, this church has taken an advance step, and has, we trust, won many new friends and attained greater strength. If you are loyal the coming year will bring still greater blessings.

"I wish to express my gratitude to those in the church and to the friends outside who have given me encouragement by their interest and co-operation. I now beg leave to submit to you my resignation as minister to this congregation, and ask that my resignation shall go into effect on the first day of October, 1902.

"Praying that you may have the guidance of the Great Founder of the church as you shall determine upon my successor, I am

"Faithfully yours,

"OSCAR LEE OWENS."

The announcement came wholly unexpected, as the pastor had won his way to the hearts of not only his congregation, but of many friends throughout the city, who have from time to time been edified by his fervent efforts.

When a News Review reporter interviewed Mr. Owens today, the latter stated that he had taken up the work

A UNANIMOUS CALL TENDERED DR. JONES

Wucherer, of Cadmus street.

It can be truthfully said that Dr. Jones did not preach a sermon at this church yesterday morning. Those who knew the venerable pastor claim that it was just one of those heart-to-heart talks from pastor to people for which he is so noted. He spoke from Galatians 2:20: "I am the Crucified Christ, nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me, and the life which I now live in the flesh, I live by the faith of the Son of God who loved me, and gave Himself for me."

The discourse related to the life of the Apostle Paul. Of the few men who have lived who have profoundly changed the history and the ways of the world, St. Paul was one. There have not been more than six or seven of these men. They had the faith which caused the ways and traditions of the world to be changed. The question which St. Paul asked, "What wilt thou have me to do?" has changed the life of everyone who has asked it from the bottom of his heart.

A WILD MAN CAPTURED IN ST. CLAIR TOWNSHIP

Found Wandering Among the Hills, Where He Had Been For Several Days, Entirely Nude.

EATING GRASS WHEN THE OFFICERS SAW HIM.

While wandering among the hills of St. Clair township entirely destitute of clothing Charles Burbick, aged 27 years, was apprehended yesterday by Sheriff Leonard and Constable Powell.

The sheriff drove over from Lisbon in the morning and deputized the constable, saying that he had a hard case on his hands and needed a man of the constable's shrewdness to help him out. They, after dinner, drove to St. Clair township, where the relatives of Burbick had summoned them, and were told that young Burbick was roaming the hills and had been doing so for several days.

A search of several hours was made before the officers caught sight of their man. They were driving along the county road when the constable spied a man stark naked, peeping from behind a tree. He was also eating grass. Both officers alighted and started in the direction of the nude form.

It seemed to scare him, as he started on a run.

The sheriff pursued and when he got in hailing distance stopped the man by asking him if he wanted a chew of tobacco. Burbick is an inveterate user of the weed and is willing to do anything for a chew.

Once getting at his side the sheriff induced him to find his clothing and then hired him as a hostler. By that means he got him over to the Lisbon jail.

Burbick belongs in St. Clair township. He was committed to the asylum at Massillon in 1897 and in 1893 he was released, much improved. He will be tried again for insanity and will likely be sent back to the asylum.

Richard Webber, a kilnhand at Knowles' new end, was stopped by Burbick near the Gibson farm, out California hollow, last Friday evening and requested some tobacco. Burbick stopped Webber's horse and throwing up his hands, made his demand. He was accommodated and then went back to the woods.

CUT COMPANION ABOUT THE NECK

FATHER AND SON JAILED

Charged With Smashing Saloon Windows With a Brick—Others Who Came to Grief and Fines For Indulgence in Drink.

Mayor Davidson had a great lineup before him this morning. Some were there for being simply drunk; some for disorderly conduct, some for destruction of property, and one for using a knife.

William Brown, colored, a faithful employee of Harrison Rinehart, was arrested yesterday afternoon along with John Keeper, Edward Keeper and Homer Harrison, by Officers Dawson, Woods and Bryan. They were in a shantyboat owned by Brown and located near the old glass house. All agree that they were drunk and were having a great time. Brown claims that the three men, while visiting him, stole money out of a pair of his trousers which were on a chair, and that when he asked them to return it they refused, whereupon he started for them with a knife.

Harrison was the only one who received a wound. His neck was slashed open and he bled profusely. The three denied having taken any money, and stated that Brown had run them all into the river in an attempt to get money which they did not have. The mayor fined them all as much as the law permits, giving the whites $3 and costs each and the negro $10 and costs.

Terry Carman's saloon in Diamond alley was the scene of great excitement late Saturday night. David Mackey and his son, Charles entered the saloon shortly before 11 o'clock and had a few drinks. When the closing hour arrived the proprietor ordered the men to vacate. They refused and were forcibly ejected. They resorted to dangerous methods of getting even. The father found a brick in the alley, and breaking it in twain, gave one part to the son. They then counted one, two, three, and let the missiles go crashing through one of the large plate glass windows.

A crowd soon assembled and, with Carman in the lead, chased father and son down toward the city hall where they were arrested by Officers Salsbury and Dunn. The elder Mackey agreed this morning to pay for the window and the son pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct. He was fined $3 and costs. The father was also fined $1 and costs for drunkenness.

Adam Openheimer, while in an awful state of intoxication, was apprehended by Officer Dawson. When placed in jail he had a genuine case of "snakes." Physicians worked with him all of Saturday night and Sunday and at times it was thought he had consumed his last half pint. This morning he was some better and pleaded guilty to being drunk. He got $1 and costs.

Jack Dempsey pleaded not guilty to being drunk and the mayor set his trial for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

John Rowe, arrested by Officer McDermott, and Frank Lewis, by Officer Mahoney, both for being drunk, pleaded guilty and paid fines of $1 and costs.

Curley Brindley was run in this morning by Officer Woods for being drunk.

The House Under Quarantine—Vain Efforts to Get a Nurse.

Thomas Raley, a well known lawyer of Akron, is at the home of his father, John Raley, at Signal, ill with smallpox. He has been ill since last Friday week, and the case is being looked after by the physicians at Rogers. Similar requests were made at Pittsburgh and Cleveland without success. Raley is married and has a wife and one child at Akron.

WARMEST GAME SEEN THIS SEASON

Ten Exciting Innings Were Necessary to Give Parkersburg a Victory.

SCORE TIED IN THE NINTH

It took ten of the hardest innings on record to decide the game in West End park between the locals and Parkersburg on Saturday afternoon. The boys from the West Virginia hills came out of the tussle victorious, and to them great credit is due. As is always the case they had the big majority of the fans against them, and in no previous game was the fact ever so cleverly demonstrated that with the crowd opposed, two battles are to be won before victory.

In the ninth inning the score stood 3 to 0 in favor of the men of Long Reach. Everything looked as if they would close the game, with the locals still credited with a goose egg. The crowd would not have it so. Had they not interfered, as they most certainly would not have done had the score stood in favor of the locals the shut-out would have been imminent. At the very start of the inning the big crowd, numbering at least 1,000, began one of the loudest and most hair-raising demonstrations ever heard on a local diamond. They surged forward to within a foot of the dead line and not a few infringed several feet across.

The howling, hooting and yelling was on in full sway when Trainor walked on "hit by pitcher." Maley caused another outburst much superior to that occasioned by Trainor's luck when he got there on an error by the pitcher. Enthusiasm died down a little, however, when Maley went out on Gibson's walk through the fielder's choice racket. This left two men on bases, but only one out was scored. Davis felt that his time had come and boldly stepped forward to deal a death blow, but he was not destined to make his reputation everlasting. He fanned and the aspect was really discouraging. Two men out and a shutout staring fiercely at them they had the hard end of the row.

John Heckathorn, brother of "Big Heck," and conceded to be the fastest runner and best hitter on the team, failed to land, but did just as well. He had his eye with him and got a walk. The old standby, that young man with but one pin, that man who has today so many admirers that he complains of rheumatism in his arm as the result of being compelled to lift his hat at every step when he appears on the street, the Rt. Hon. Mr. Frederick Heckathorn, was the next to take his place at the plate. His left leg he extended half way down to the pitcher. His eyes flashed fire. His determination was quite evident. He was going to save the day or die in the attempt. That he didn't do it was no fault of his. With the fans screaming and in awful suspense, he dared not entertain a thought other than belting one for a home run.

"One ball," the umpire was heard to say. One strike. Two balls. Two strikes. Three balls. All hope was lost. Was he going to die on the home plate? Fred said no. The next ball was just his size and the way he landed. With the force of a maddened bull's charge he bumped against it. Down through the diamond it sped. Splitting the wind and spitting fire it was too much for the short stop to handle. Simultaneously every man on a base started on the run for their lives. Like frightened race horses they bounded.

During all of this time the fans were too wild to be justly described. Such yell and excitement could hardly be imagined. They ran out into the diamond and apparently were clutching at the ball which was not there. It had gone on past the short stop and was not clinched by Murphy in left field before two men had scored. He then also became excited and did his best to throw it up to the West End pottery. The fence was all that stopped

MOBS TIE UP CARS.

Fruit, Eggs and Other Missiles

Hurled at Non-union Street Car Men.

WERE DRIVEN FROM THE CARS,

At Ironton, O.—Men Afraid to Run Cars at Points on Kentucky and West Virginia Side—Company Willing to Recognize Union.

Ironton, O., Aug 4.—The strike of the employees of the Camden Inter-state Electric railway almost completely tied up the lines from Guyandotte, W. Va., to Hanging Rock, O., and intermediate points yesterday. In seven hours all the non-union men were driven from the cars in this city by violence. Crowds gathered at street intersections, hurling fruit, eggs and other missiles at motormen and conductors. At noon James Sanders, a union man, who refused to quit, was taken from his car and dragged toward the Ohio river. On promising not to resume his car he was escorted home in a roundabout way, to escape the crowds. The conductor on the same car and linemen were taken home in cabs to escape the mob. Cars were held up all over the city until noon, when traffic was suspended. Non-union men were also afraid to run through the crowds at Catlettsburg and Ashland, Ky., and other points on the Kentucky and West Virginia side of the Ohio river.

The Ironton strikers ran cabs and secured more passengers than the street cars, women who chose that mode of conveyance in preference to street cars being cheered by the crowds. The concert at Beechwood park, the railway company's pleasure resort, was abandoned, the Ironton orchestra declining to play after the strike was declared. The crowds of union sympathizers had full sway without molestation from the authorities, not a policeman appearing at any of the points of disturbance. The local militia will leave for camp at Newary today, and the preservation of order will devolve upon the officials in case of more serious outbreaks, almost certain to occur if the cars shall be operated.

Seth Vinson, of Huntington, W. Va., general attorney of the Camden company, arrived here yesterday afternoon and held an informal conference with the strike leaders. He said the company was willing to recognize the union, but there were no assurances last night of a speedy settlement.

Atlantic City, Aug. 4.—After a long conference with his lieutenants Senator Quay yesterday ordered a meeting of the Republican state committee to be held about the middle of this month, likely Aug. 15. This was only one of the developments following Saturday night's conference between Quay, Stone, Durham, Penrose and others.

The offer of Senator C. C. Connell, of Lisbon, to come to East Liverpool and take counsel with the citizens regarding what is desired in the new municipal code in one that should be thoughtfully considered and accepted. Those who are posted on public affairs in this city could doubtless offer suggestions, which, if carried out in legislation, might be of great utility and value, not alone to East Liverpool, but to other cities of the state whose population and needs are similar. The senator's desire to learn the wishes of his constituents before the legislature meets, that he may act according to them when the code question is before the legislature, is most commendable. Steps should at once be taken to arrange for a meeting and for expressions of opinion on the important questions to be settled. It is likely that the code bill to be enacted the coming fall will stand for years, and special legislation having been put under the ban of the supreme court, changes will be difficult after it has become a law. It is therefore of the utmost importance that it should be a bill adapted not only to the present needs of cities, but one that will apply when their population has been doubled, as East Liverpool's population will be in a few years at the present rate of growth.

OBITUARY

Constable James A. Miller.

James Alexander Miller died at 2:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon at his home in this city. His physicians state that death was the result of nervous collapse. At the home of Wilbur Miller, a son, on Sixth street, funeral services were conducted Sunday evening at 9 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Crawford preached the sermon and a quartet of the M. E. church choir sang. On the early train this morning the remains were shipped to Mechanicsburg for burial. A large number of relatives and friends accompanied the body.

Born in Carroll county on September 30, 1844, James A. Miller lived in that vicinity for 44 years. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Miller, the latter alone living at the age of 82 years. In the sixties he was married to Matilda L. Potts, a sister of Editor Potts, of Lisbon, and also of B. F. Potts, deceased, who was for over 12 years governor of Montana. To this union three boys were born, Wilbur C. Chalmers M. and Floyd L., all of whom are living in this city. Prior to moving to this city 14 years ago Mr. Miller was engaged extensively in the stock business. For years he shipped on every Saturday several carloads of stock of all kinds to the market at Pittsburgh. In this business he at one time accumulated considerable money but through a misjudgment he lost the most of it and finally decided to change his vocation. He was an expert in the matter of wool buying and made several trips through this country on that business. Buying a half interest in a butcher shop located on Washington street he and W. H. McLean carried on the business for five years, when Mr. Miller sold out and accepted a position with the Crocker City Milling company, where he worked for several years and then was employed by L. J. Magee, who conducted a feed store on Sixth street. In 1898 he was elected constable and held that position at the time of his death. He was at one time a member of the Methodist Episcopal church and of the L. O. O. F. at Salineville.

Candles.

"I thought candles went with stage-coaches, but a good many people must use them yet," said a shopper who pointed to a collection of candlesticks, all of the utility sort, arrayed in a house furnishing department. There were big and little, ornamental and plain, practical and unpractical ones. Some had broad trays, and others had none at all, and some had devices for lifting the candle, while others were made with deep necks. There still remain people who cling to the traditions of their ancestors and will have none of the modern lighting inventions for their sleeping rooms. Certain women prefer a light in their bedrooms until they are asleep, and for this purpose a candle is just the thing, for it will put itself out at the time proportioned by its length.—New York Tribune.

Saw No Reason For Swearing.

General Grant was asked why he never swore. He replied: "Well, when a boy I had an aversion to swearing. It seemed useless, an unnecessary habit, and besides I saw that swearing usually aroused a man's anger. I early had a desire to have complete command of myself. I noticed when a man got angry his opponent always got the better of him. On that account also I determined to refrain from swearing. Then the swearing men of my acquaintance when a boy were not the best men I knew. I never saw any reason for swearing. All were against it."

Home Life In England and America.

The decay of the home life is to be attributed partially to the influence on society of the invasion of Americans.

In the United States home life is almost unknown. The meaning of the word "home," as understood to Britons, is a mystery to Yankees. To a certain extent we have always envied you your home life, and I certainly agree with some of your correspondents that it would be disastrous for your country to lose the elevating and refining influences of the home.—An glo-American in London Mail.

TAWSBURY WON

C. A. Smith's Horses Conspicuous in the Brunot's Island Races.

The Pittsburg papers of yesterday had this to say of the races at Brunot's island track Saturday, in which several horses of C. A. Smith, of this city, were entered:

The patrons were treated to some splendid pacing in the third event. Carrie Williams, W. A. Avery's bay mare, and C. A. Smith's Tewksbury, a gray mare, were the actors and they made a fine race. In the first heat Tewksbury got the pole and was slightly in the head when starting. She broke before reaching the quarter, however, and Carrie Williams forged ahead. Tewksbury recovered quickly after the brake, but could not regain the lead, although she made a desperate effort, and both horses finished in fast time, the mile in 2:14 1-2.

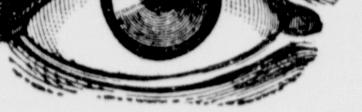

In the next heat the horses left the stand neck and neck and continued like a team to the half, which was made in 1:07 3-4. At the half Carrie Williams was leading by a length, but the horses were together again at the last quarter, and came down the stretch in a manner that set the crowd wild. Tewksbury passed under the wire about one foot in front of the bay mare, making the mile in 1:15. In the third heat both horses seemed to be slightly worn, though they went another good mile. They were promising another close finish, but Carrie Williams broke at the beginning of the stretch, and Tewksbury took a good lead before she could recover. Tewksbury won the heat by three lengths in 2:20.

Event No. 3, pacing, mile heats: Tewksbury, b. m. (C. A. Smith, 2 1 1 Carrie Williams, b. m. (W. A. Avery, 1 2 2 Time—2:14 1-2, 2:15, 2:20.

Event No. 6, mile heats: Lena H. (Denny) J. A. Chambers, 1 2 1 Wood Girl, b. m. (C. A. Smith, 3 1 2 Wertz, b. g. (Robert Carson Jr., 2 dr Time—2:23 3-4, 2:24 1-2, 2:22 1-2.

Bandit Escaped, but Was Drowned.

Manila, Aug. 4.—Pablo Muros, a bandit who had terrorized the island of Romblon for the past 10 years, was captured by the native constabulary on the neighboring island of Sibuyan. With his arms bound he was placed in a boat to be conveyed to Romblon, but sprang overboard, in a dash for liberty and was drowned.

Eye-strain arises chiefly from defects in the refraction of the eye and an imperfect equilibrium in the muscles which move the eye.

These conditions when present tend to an excessive expenditure of nerve-force by the individual in direct proportion to the amount of defect to be overcome.

Excessive expenditure of nerve-force upon any one organ is commonly made at the expense of some other organ, or, if not, is paid out of the "reserve" amount of nerve-capital possessed by the individual.

The extent of the drafts thus made upon the "reserve-capital" and the amount of "reserve-capital" are the two factors which alone can determine, in any individual case, how long this state of affairs can last without causing a "nervous bankruptcy."

The conditions mentioned as those which chiefly tend to cause eye-strain are transmitted from parent to child; hence they become operative at birth and last until death, unless mechanically or otherwise relieved.

They are capable of detection and accurate measurement during life by scientific procedures.

A condition of exhausted nervous vitality is sure to impair the general health in many ways, and to render the individual more susceptible to disease and disorder. Many of the constitutional diseases which ultimately imperil the lives of their victims are indirectly the result of a state of low nervous vitality (a state which is frequently the result of eye-strain, from well-understood causes that might have been easily recognized and relieved).

WELLSVILLE

PRISONER WITH A HISTORY

Man Who Participated in a Memorable Jail Break at Wellsville Arrested.

Hugh Hinchcliffe, formerly of Wellsville, now a Pittsburg police officer, identified a man in the latter city for stealing junk as "Red" Dobbins. Dobbins was held for court under $500 bond.

The man when arrested gave his name as Leonard McTaggart, but Hinchcliffe surprised him by calling him by his real name.

Nine years ago, says a Pittsburg paper, Hinchcliffe was an officer in Wellsville when Dobbins was put in jail for a minor offense. He, with three others, tunneled his way out of jail, took refuge in a dugout along the river and, hanging out a red flag, defied arrest. In the fight that ensued, in which Officer Hinchcliffe participated, the sheriff was shot in the shoulder by Dobbins. He served two years in the Columbus penitentiary for it.

WAITING ON COURT

STREET RAILWAY PROMOTERS OTHERWISE READY TO BUILD.

S. B. Goucher Talks of the Prospects of the Proposed Chester-Congo Line.

S. B. Goucher, of the firm of Goucher & McIlwaine, who are interested in the Chester-Congo street railway, says they are only awaiting the decision of the Hancock county court of appeals to begin the work of construction of this line.

Attorney O. S. Marshall, for Johnston, the plaintiff in the Congo ferry case, asked for a continuance of the matter until the next term of court, which was granted, and it will probably be September before the matter is settled.

There may possibly be a bridge in connection with this new street railway venture from the west end of East Liverpool over to Newell, which would make an entirely independent street railway line operating on both sides of the Ohio. The matter all depends, however, on a favorable decision for Messrs. Goucher & McIlwaine in the Hancock county court of appeals.

AN INDUSTRIAL TOWN

With a Tin Mill and Other Factories
Be Built at Mahan.

The long talked of deal by which the Mahan and Hamilton tracts of land in Cross Creek district are transferred to a company of Washington, Pa., and Pittsburg capitalists with Cyrus Ferguson, of McDonald, as agent, has been consummated, says the Wellsville Herald, and an industrial town with Folkins Bros. tin plate mill and other factories as a nucleus. This is an entirely different deal from that in which T. J. and H. B. Mahan sold their farms for cash.

The property just sold consists of the Jos. Hamilton farm of 300 acres; Richard Mahan 50 acres; Frank Mahan 100 acres and W. B. Mahan 190 acres in all of first and second river bottom. The price paid was $200,000 and the following reservations were made: Richard Mahan, house, barn and two acres; James Hamilton, W. B. Mahan, and Frank Mahan, each two acres for building sites—all the ground reserved being contiguous and located on the Steubenville-Elderville road.

BULLET CARLESSLY FIRED

Went Through Window of Room
Where Banker And Wife Were

A. P. Howard, president of the Homeworth National bank of Pittsburg, was yesterday visiting his son Homer, who lives in Congo, opposite Wellsville. At about 2 o'clock he was awakened by a 32-calibre bullet crashing through the window of the room where he and his wife were sleeping.

The lower sash was raised and the bullet went through both panes and passed over the bed where Mr. Howard was sleeping. He has no idea who fired the shot or why it was done, but thinks it probable that some one on the river was foolishly handling a revolver.

Wanted to Whip Everybody.

A Pittsburg structural ironworker ran amuck at Rock Springs para Saturday evening, and wanted to whip everybody on the grounds. Two others, intoxicated, were escorted to the train by Officer Hassey.

Production Growing Steadily.

The production of the Turkeyfoot extension oil field is steadily increasing, the daily production now aggregating 1,500 barrels. The entire Turkeyfoot field is now doing 2,000 barrels per day. This is nearly as good as in the palmy days of the field, and farmers and operators are elated over the future prospects of the field.

CERVERA AT HIS HOME.

How the Spanish Admiral Is Spending His Declining Years.

Contrary to reports recently printed in the United States, Admiral Cervera, who commanded the ill-fated Spanish fleet at the naval battle of Santiago, is not suffering from the neglect and contempt of his countrymen.

Quite the reverse, in fact, is the admiral's position in Spain. He is spending his declining years at Puerto Real, a few miles distant from Cadiz, and spends many a day at the naval club in the old city founded by the Phoenicians, where he is the object of much solicitude and affection. Puerto Real has been nicknamed by the Spaniards the navy's "Pensionopolis," for at least one-tenth of its inhabitants are retired naval officers.

The house in Santo Domingo street which is Admiral Cervera's home, although modest in size and appearance, is one of the best in the little seaport city. It wears an air of comfort and cheerfulness, even of luxuriance.

Here, surrounded by a numerous contingent of sons and daughters and their children, the old sea dog spends his days with his books. The den of Admiral Cervera is as neat and cozy as a ship's cabin, the flat top desk, medium sized bookcase and two or three chairs filling nearly all the available space.

The routine of his life, as recently explained by himself, consists of reading naval reports from different parts of the world, attending to correspondence, etc., which take up his morning hours. In the afternoon he visits the casino, where he meets his old comrades in arms. This is varied by occasional trips to Cadiz.

The admiral draws half pay from the government and besides has quite a little fortune of his own. He owns half a dozen houses and considerable land in the township of Medina Sidonia, the home of the maquisades of Cervera. The admiral's father was a wealthy man, but as he left many children the parental fortune has been so split up that none of his heirs can be considered rich. Nevertheless the admiral wants for none of the comforts of life, nor does he lack the friendship and respect of his countrymen.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

A CERAMIC SCHOOL.

The recent publication in this column suggesting an art pottery in this city has created much favorable comment. It must be understood that in presenting this matter to the reading public, there was but one thing in mind—that of increasing the production of ware in this city in a line not heretofore undertaken. Should an art pottery be established, the matter of forming a school for the development of potters' talents should not be lost sight of. It is by education that progress is made in any line of business, and where is there a business today that could be more uplifted by education than the pottery trade? Go into almost any pottery in East Liverpool and walk through the pressing shop. Nine times out of ten you will find drawings on the wall that were made by a presser. This proves that the presser has talent for this particular kind of work, and he could no doubt earn more money, and be of more service to the firm by which he is employed, if he was employed in a decorating department. But for the lack of education in the line of drawing and painting, this presser is compelled to work in the clay day in and day out, year in and year out. No advancement, no place to develop his talents. He is to be pitied. Then why not a school of ceramics embracing all departments of a pottery? One of the leading manufacturers of the city a few days ago made the following statement: "I would be willing, in fact, I would only be too glad, to put from $50 to $500 in a project of this sort. I would soon have it returned to me ten fold. It is the only logical way to educate the rising generation in the art of pottery making. But I would follow a plan something like this: If I noticed an employee having a special taste for drawing, I would place him in the decorative or art department of the school; if an employee showed a taste or talent to be a presser, and he was employed in another department of the pottery, then I would see to it that he received the proper instruction. All these little things help in one's life, and if he facilities for education are not at hand, then the entire community has sustained a loss, perhaps not just at this time, but it will be a loss of the future that could have been avoided." Many similar expressions have been heard.

TROUBLE OVER TOOLS.

A forerunner of what may occur if the jiggermen persist in enforcing the new rule calling for the finishers to purchase their own tools took place at the Union when Miss Celia Albager, finishing for Fred Goppert, asked him for a sponge. Goppert said the union had decided to insist on the finishers furnishing their own tools, and he refused to give her a sponge. Miss Albager refused to purchase her own sponge, as she was instructed by her local to not do so. A committee from the finishers was circulating among those employed at this branch, instructing them to purchase nothing. Goppert is loafing and is unable to get a finisher.

A SEVERE SPRAIN.

While working at Laughlin No. 2 Saturday morning, A. J. Pollock accidentally sprained his back in such a manner that he was unable to carry any saggers into the kiln on that day. He had been at the bench but an hour in the morning when the accident occurred. Mr. Pollock kept at work, however, by placing the saggers on the bench, and from there they were carried into the kiln by his fellow workmen. It is evident that all the men in Mr. Pollock's crew are bent on helping one another.

IDLE FOR A FEW DAYS.

The East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe company Saturday afternoon stopped making pipe for a few days. This is caused by the company making a number of improvements at the plant. One press has been in operation at this plant for the past two weeks, while the second press was idle on account of some changes being made to it. Now both presses are stopped, and they will not be started for a week at least. The engines will be run for a few days, or until the kiln-placers clean the plant of all the pipe now being dried. It is thought this will be done before the improvements are completed.

HIT BY A TRAIN.

John Allender, a saggar maker at the Steubenville pottery, was struck by a Panhandle freight in that city Friday night and received an injured shoulder and had his right ear nearly cut off. He also suffered internal injuries, but not serious.

RESUMED IN FULL.

All the plants operated by the K. T. & K. company the Edwin M. Knowles and the Taylor, Smith &

Taylor plants at Chester resumed operations in full this morning. After resting since Friday last the Union pottery resumed work this morning. The employees of this shop were paid last Friday afternoon instead of Saturday. This was occasioned by the funeral of Isaac W. Knowles.

NEW CLAY MINE.

The Forest City Sewer Pipe works of the American Sewer Pipe company at Toronto, have completed their new clay mine entry of 150 feet, at a great cost. The new entry and tramway will afford better ingress and egress to the clay mine. A new clay crusher will also be located at the opening of the tramway.

INTERESTING SESSION.

Packers' local No. 25 held an interesting session last Friday night. Matters of routine nature were discussed in the main. One transfer card was received at this session, that being deposited by Grayde Coleman, of Ford City, Pa., who came here a few days ago from that shop to look for work in this city.

TOOK AN ADVISOR ALONG.

Taylor Larkins and Mike O'Brien, well known kilnmen residing in the East End, left for the south Saturday evening to purchase a horse. Mr. Larkins proposed to purchase the animal, and in order to not get the worst of the deal asked Mr. O'Brien to make the trip with him to act as judge, so to speak.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS.

The Barberton (O.) sewer pipe plant of the American Sewer Pipe company, has been completely overhauled and much improvement made. This is perhaps the largest plant in the American's possession, having between 40 and 50 kilns and mammoth buildings.

TIED UP THE SHOP.

One of the most laughable strikes that has ever been known occurred at Laughlin No. 3 this morning. In the Jigger shop a clay carrier named Wright is employed. As in all other shops, he is paid by the men working in that shop. Saturday he received his wages for ten days' work, all that the jiggermen claim was due him. Wright, however, desired a compensation for 12 days, but the men refused to give him this, claiming that he only worked 10 days. Wright said that his family was ill and he needed the money, and asked pay for two more days, refusing to work unless the pay was allowed. This morning the entire jigger shop was compelled to stop work. The jiggermen will secure another clay carrier.

It is the intention to organize a mixed local at Barberton just as soon as that shop is in steady operation. President A. S. Hughes lately made a trip to Barberton. The workers will soon hold a meeting to organize.

E. A. Crawford, one of the salesmen for the Smith-Phillips plant, left Friday evening for an extended fall trip. It is expected that he will remain out for several months.

William Fickes is a new glaze kilnman at the C. C. Thompson pottery.

AMONG THE POTTERS.

Frank Way, a kilnplacer at R. Thompson's porcelain works, is off duty from illness.

Charles Smith and William Haas have accepted positions as potters at the Louthan Supply company's pottery.

The Brazil (Ind.) sewer pipe plant of the American Sewer Pipe company is the largest western plant of the company, and is running to its fullest capacity.

The Freeman fire brick works of the American Sewer Pipe company, are running to their fullest capacity and turning out between 35,000 to 50,000 brick per day.

Kilndrawers' local No. 17 held an interesting meeting Saturday evening, the first that had been held for two weeks. The attendance was just fair, and important business was transacted.

William Hardie, a diper at Laughlin No. 3, is now taking a vacation, which commenced Saturday afternoon and will last for two weeks, during that time he will visit several of the eastern summer resorts and also New York.

Poke Little, for many months employed at Laughlin No. 2 as a decorating kilnman and who has been unable to work for some time on account of illness, is now able to be out. Within a short time he expects to leave on an extensive western trip for the benefit of his health.

Cooper's Local Officers.

The Coopers' local No. 71, C. I. U. of N. A., at their last meeting elected the following officers: President, Isaac Beardmore; vice president, James Douglass; financial secretary, Herbert Everett; recording secretary, W. J. Day; treasurer, Samuel Donovan; sergeant-at-arms, J. Kilmyre; inner guard, Brady Wolf; outer guard, Harry A. Douglass; reporter, W. S. Dorff; delegates to the international convention, W. J. DON'T EXPECT ATTEMPT TO RUN!

Mitchell Said as to This Week—Citizens' Organization to Ask Arbitration.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 4.—President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, made another visit to Scranton yesterday. Before going he said there was no change in the strike situation. He did not think that an attempt would be made to resume work at any of the collieries the coming week. From what he could learn the Oxford mine, in the Lackawanna region, was being operated by new men. None of the old employees had returned and at a meeting they pledged themselves not to return. Mr. Mitchell said the same conditions prevailed throughout the entire region. The strikers were still confident they were going to win and so long as they felt that way there was little probability that they would report for work.

It was reported yesterday that work would be resumed at the Woodward colliery of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company today or tomorrow and that number of old miners would report for work. State Secretary J. F. Mulhern, of the Stationary Firemen's association, did not think that any of the firemen would go back, but lest some of them had such intention, he issued an address yesterday, urging all striking firemen to keep away from the mine and to stand by Mitford until the strike was over.

The Public Alliance and the Workingmen's Alliance, two organizations said to be opposed to the Citizens' Alliance, have been organized here. They will send a petition signed by thousands of citizens to the coal operators, asking them to arbitrate, and if they refuse Governor Stone will be requested to take some action to compel the coal companies to come to terms with their employees.

IRELAND'S WARNING

Advises Agitators Among Catholics to Hold Their Peace.

AMERICA IS ALWAYS JUST.

Public Agitation Not Necessary—Anyhow, the Friars' Question Is in the Hands of Pope Leo—Clerks Do Not Represent the Church.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 4.—Archbishop Ireland, preaching Sunday morning in the cathedral, said in part:

"The Apostle Paul gives this counsel, 'Not to be more wise than it becometh to be wise, but to be wise unto sobriety, and according as God hath divided to every one the measure of faith.' In the mind of the apostle, things most excellent if made use of in undue measure and without proper regard for circumstances, of time and place, change into things perilous and hurtful. And this is undoubtedly what is happening in the case of the fiery zeal in defense of Catholic interests, which seems to be coveting an explosion at the present time among certain classes of American Catholics. The interests of the church, it is said, are made to suffer at the hands of the government in its newly acquired dependencies, and the call to arms is sounded from the rostrums of Catholic societies, and through the columns of Catholic papers to the perturbation of the whole Catholic body, and indeed, of the whole country. The moment has come to say to Catholics, 'Be wise, be zealous, unto sobriety, and according as God hath divided to every one the measure of faith,' and such the counsel I take the liberty to give to my hearers.

Clerks Don't Represent Church.

"Who are they, who complain and protest and call upon Catholics to be up and doing? Are they those who might claim to represent the church in its general, or even local interests? Was the sovereign pontiff spoken?

Certainly he has not complained; rather has he been heard from in very different tones. Have the ecclesiastical authorities in the dependencies invoked our aid? In no instance have they so acted; where they have been heard from, as in the case of Porto Rico and of Cuba, it was to tell us in plainest words that they had no grievance, although from irresponsible sources it had been, on several previous occasions, dimmed into our ears that the church was rebuked and persecuted in both those islands. Bishop Blenck, of Porto Rico, openly rejoices that the American flag, rather than the Spanish, guards his diocese, and the hierarchy in Cuba are thanking God that church interests there were settled by the government at Washington before a Cuban parliament was allowed to sit down in Havana. The archbishops of the states meet together once a year in Washington, each one representing the whole hierarchy. It can not be said that they are heedless of the welfare of the church; and yet they have sounded no alarm. Whatever complaints have been heard come from individual Catholics or from societies of Catholics, in neither case is there warrant to represent others than the men themselves, or the societies themselves who do speak. Societies of Catholics are organized for purposes of their own, usually with the intent to secure special aid or comfort to such as are members thereof. Restricted to those purposes, they are within their sphere and are entitled to respect. To venture beyond those purposes and assume general direction of the church is quite another thing. It must be remembered that there are hundreds of thousands of good and influential Catholic laymen members of no mutual benevolent society, who have commissioned no society to speak for them. It must be remembered also that soldiers of the church as soldiers of an army of whatever kind, whether singly or whether in companies or regiments, must await the action of the commanders before they undertake to act for the whole organization. 'Be wise according as God hath divided to every one the measure of faith.'

America Willing to Give Justice.

"Nor is public agitation necessary in America to redress grievances, if grievances do exist, whether such grievances have origin as is more often the case, from mere inadvertence, or as it more rarely happens from malice aforethought on the part of individual officials of the government. I say it advisedly, and I am prepared to stand by what I here say, there is always redress from grievances, so far as circumstances may allow, if it is sought through quiet and reasonable methods, from the high into the future and see the condition to which your cough, if neglected, will bring you, you would seek relief at once—and that naturally would be through representatives of the government. Let justice be done to America; in no other country is there a government so fair-minded, so impartial, so willing to treat all classes of citizens with absolute justice, as with which we are blessed in America.

"The logic of the situation in presence of strange complications for church and state arising from a change of sovereignty in the Philippine islands pointed to a mutual confidence between the head of the church and the state as the proper and dignified way to a final and peaceful solution. Leo XIII saw this; Theodore Roosevelt saw this; Leo took the initiative, proposed the conference, and asked the government to expose frankly and thoroughly its views. The president and his advisers accepted the proposition. What more could have been done by the administration to prove its good will and sense of justice? If the administration had refused to send a representative to Rome, verify what claimings there would have been; and now, when it has sent a representative to Rome and agrees to the further proposal of the vatican to transfer negotiations to Manila, claimings are still raised. Well, some people are born to clamor; and private clamor must be allowed to them. Be it so; but we shall insist that they clamor in their own name and not in the name of the church in America, and for our own part we shall hold ourselves in peace, leaving church interests in the Philippines to one who understands them as well at least as we do and who will be as wise in disposing of them as we could well hope to be—Leo XIII."

PAPAL DELEGATE TO MANILA.

The Vatican Trying to Secure an American For the Post.

Rome, August 4.—The delay in appointing an apostolic delegate to Manila is due to the desire of the vatican authorities to please the authorities at Washington by sending to the Philippines an American priest, and the vatican has been awaiting letters from the United States. The pedestal who it was thought likely will accept is thoroughly adapted to the mission.

Should the plan fall through, the most probable candidate is Mgr. Guidi, now in the office of Cardinal Rampolla, the papal secretary of state.

COUPLE ON LONG WALK.

Elopers From Dayton, O., Going From Washington Back Home.

Baltimore, Aug. 4.—To walk from Richmond, Va., to Dayton, O., is the task set by a young couple who left here Sunday. They stated at the office of the superintendent of charities that they had eloped from Dayton four months ago and had gone to Washington, where they were married. This part of the story was substantiated by the marriage certificate which they exhibited. From Washington they said they had gone to Richmond, where the young man had secured employment as a conductor on a trolley car. Then came a strike and the husband lost his position. His lungs were not strong and they decided that he would be better off at Dayton, especially as there did not seem to be any way of making a living for himself and wife in Richmond, where he is confident of securing employment in Dayton.

They had very little money and decided to walk, and started out heading for Baltimore as one of the stopping places. It has taken them four weeks to get here.

The officials refused to give the names of the couple, but said the man is 27 years old and his wife 17. They declined to accept transportation to Dayton, but were provided with money.

Guards Commanded to Use Bullets, If Necessary, at Shenandoah, Pa.

THREE ATTACKS ON THE TROOPS.

Stones Thrown on Saturday Night.

One of the Assailants Caught—He

Will Be Turned Over to the Civil Authorities Today.

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 4.—The eighth regiment was called to arms during Saturday night as a result of three attacks made by a band of men in ambush, who threw stones at the troops now in camp on the plateau outside the town. These attacks were becoming so frequent that Brigadier General Gobin decided to adopt stern measures to end them.

Last night a double guard, supplied with ball cartridges, surrounded the camp, and the sentries were instructed that if Saturday night's stone-throwing was repeated they must shoot to kill and investigate afterwards. One of the attacking party, a Lithuanian named William Stoponitz, was arrested and confined in the guard tent, and the provost marshal was on the trail of the others. It was not known how many were in the crowd, but the officers of the eighth regiment believed the number to have been more than a dozen.

A Guard Knocked Down.

The first attack, according to Colonel Theodore F. Hoffman, was made at 10:45 o'clock Saturday night. Private Payne, of Company I, on sentry duty, saw a party of men on the Mahanoy City road, which separates the camp of the eighth regiment from the twentieth. He commanded the men to halt, but before the latter could respond a shower of stones and rocks were thrown at the sentry. One rock struck him on the chest, knocking him down and causing his gun to fall from his hands. He immediately jumped up and fired several shots in the air. As he did so the men ran down the road and were pursued by several strangers. The outpost, which had been stationed some distance from the camp, heard the shots and one of the sentries, Captain Scapino, responded to the alarm. The others escaped.

As shooting aroused the whole camp and the eighth regiment was put under arms and companies B, E and K were immediately thrown out in skirmish lines. They beat the unbroken and laurel, which is six or six feet high, all around the camp, but they could find no one. The regiment was then called to quarters and 15 minutes later another shower of stones was thrown at the stable guard, which is located south of the eighth regiment. The guard turned out and three men were seen running along the road in opposite direction from where the outpost was stationed. The strangers were not pursued.

Regiment Sounded to Arms.

Shortly after 3 o'clock Sunday morning the third and last attack was made, and it was of such a nature that the bugler, under orders from Colonel Hoffman, sounded the whole regiment's arms. This time the stable guard was again the object of the mysterious attack. Stones in volleys were thrown at the guard and at the sentries nearby. On account of the laurel underbrush and the darkness the soldiers could not see the offenders. However, the sentries fired about a dozen shots into the bushes, but no one was hit. Some of the bullets were whistling over the tents of the sleeping soldiers of the twentieth regiment, across the road.

The noise of the firing and the bugle call to arms stirred up the twentieth regiment and the Governor's troop of cavalry, which is located close to the eighth regiment. Colonel Clement of the twentieth regiment sent out detachments to investigate the trouble, as did also Captain Ott, in command of the cavalry. The eighth regiment, Colonel Hoffman said, was under arms and ready for action in three minutes. Another thorough investigation was made without result and then the command, after standing in formation for 30 minutes, was called to quarters and not again disturbed.

The Prisoner Examined.

Colonel Hoffman made a full report to Brigadier General Gobin, who came to camp during the forenoon to make a full investigation. He put Stoponitz through a searching examination. The prisoner said there were only four men in the party. He gave the name of one of them as Michael Lavotiz and said he did not know who the others were. While under examination

HUCKSTERS OBJECT

WILL FIGHT GROCERS' PROPOSITION TO TAX THEM.

CLAIM THEY ARE ENTITLED TO DO BUSINESS WITHOUT PAYING LICENSE FEE.

The hucksters of the city will not let the Grocers' association petition to council pass without fighting the measure to impose a license upon them. They allege that a number of grocers peddle bread, vegetables, etc., and that a great deal of their produce is shipped here from points down the river, and that they have been the first ones to cut prices on green stuff.

The hucksters allege that their trade is a legitimate calling; they are residents of the city, pay taxes and share in general in the city's business and prosperity. The state law, they claim, entitles them to sell anything manufactured or raised in the state free of charge, and they claim to be therefore entitled to the same privileges accorded any other business

Another claim that they make is that they do not handle any foreign goods, and the country surrounding, which is in part East Liverpool territory, is drawn upon for their supplies, while the stock of the grocers comes for the most part from foreign dealers. These matters probably will be put in form to present to council when the license matter comes up for consideration.

The hucksters offer no kick against the grocers acting against those coming from West Virginia, as they are certainly foreign dealers, and no objection would perhaps be made by the city hucksters against licensing them.

Number of Depositors Today.

The savings bank depositors in the United States now number more than six millions of people, and their deposits aggregate more than $2,500,000,000. These figures will suffice to show that the small depositor has become in a definite sense the capitalist of the country. The combination of the savings of men and women of limited means brought about by the savings bank of the country furnishes the capital for the largest undertakings of municipal and private corporations. The Dollar Savings bank of this city is rapidly increasing its number of depositors.

TRAGIC STORY RELATED OF A BROTHER MURDERED

Dick Carson Tells of His Brother Oliver's Disappearance From This City and His Death by Foul Means.

THE GIRL HE LOVED LEFT WITH THE SLAYER

It will be news to most people in East Liverpool that Oliver Carson, a former resident of this city is dead, and still more startling news to them that he was murdered.

After an absence of six years Richard Carson, more familiarly known to East Liverpool people as "Dick," drifted into the city last Friday morning, and remained until Saturday evening. The mere mention of his having been in the city for the two days implies no particular significance, but a story which he related to a News Review reporter will be read with the greatest interest, especially because it pertains wholly to the fate of his brother.

"Do you remember Oliver Carson, my brother?" asked Dick. "Yes, I guess you do. Well, poor Oliver is dead, and he met his death in a manner which I will not soon forget. You know he came to this city in 1894 from Westmoreland county, Pa., and obtained employment at Cartwright's pottery as an apprentice kilnman. He was a rather quiet fellow, but I guess everybody knew him before he left town, and I think he was liked generally.

"He worked in the potteries for over two years, and during that time accumulated $500. Always having a desire to make money and be his own boss, he decided in 1896 to purchase a shantyboat, stock it with ware and sell it to residents of towns down along the Ohio river. I never discouraged him, and was happy when he left the city one day on his own boat for southern points.

"There was a girl in East Liverpool to which he had become much attached, and he did not want to leave her. She seemed to return his love, and when he asked her to keep house for him on his long trip she readily consented to do so, and both left as happy as a couple could be. Her name was Maude Parker and she was one of the most beautiful women I ever saw. Who her parents were I never knew, but I understand she was born and reared in East Liverpool, and that she was employed in a local pottery as a dippers' helper. Well, both had been away for about six months, and at the expiration of that time, neither having written to me, I became anxious. Finally, fearing that something serious had happened to them, I gave up my job at Cartwright's where I was employed as a kilndrawer, and started on a search. After a careful inquiry all along the river between here and Cincinnati, I found them located at Newport, Ky. Things were not then as they were when the couple left.

"With them I found a young man, Phillip Kain by name. He had been taken into the household by my brother as a helper. I was not there long until I noticed something which my brother had never even suspected. Kain and Maude were becoming fast friends. A week or so rolled by and I kept my eyes and ears open.

"I thought that they were forming some sort of a plot to get rid of Oliver, and told him so, but he would not believe it, and kept on industriously working as if nothing had occurred.

"One cool September evening as the sun was vanishing behind the hills my suspicions proved only too true. Oliver was just returning from a visit in Newport, and was scarcely half way up the gang plank leading to the houseboat when the stillness of the river air was broken by the sounds in quick succession of pistol shots. Oliver had taken his last step. With a loud, heart rending scream, he threw his hands above his head and fell backward into the water—dead.

"The rest of the story is short. Kain, through the influence of a church to which he belonged, was acquitted of the terrible crime notwithstanding that I was an eye witness. The girl knew where Oliver's money was hidden; took it and left with Kain for parts unknown. Since then I have been almost heart broken, and have traveled all over the country making my living at banjo playing and acting the part of a comedian in a show."

freaks were also greatly in evidence. The central school building was struck with slight damage.

A horse belonging to J. H. Mayhew, son of J. N. Mayhew, whose barn was struck by the lightning at Fairview, was struck during the storm and killed instantly. The animal was a valuable one, and was out in a field near Mr. Mayhew's home.

Ex-Sheriff Robert Lindsay's home on lower Ridge avenue at New Cumberland, was also struck by lightning during the storm, and caught fire, but the flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

The storm also struck Wellsville with violent force about 8 o'clock Saturday evening, and the streets near the Lisbon road were rendered impassable. The street cars were forced to stop for a time.

In the vicinity of Clarkson and Negley, in this county, the storm was quite severe. At Negley the large barn of Mr. McVicker's was struck by lightning, causing it to burn to the ground. No stock in the barn was injured.

At Fairview the big barn, 80x40 feet, of J. N. Mayhew, father of George Mayhew, the East Liverpool grocer, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Mr. Mayhew had just finished his harvest and the barn was filled with hay, wheat and harvesting implements and all were completely destroyed. The loss to Mr. Mayhew will reach $1,000. The barn, however, was insured, but will only partially cover the loss.

During the storm also, three oil derricks were struck in the Turkeyfoot extension field, and on account of the presence of gas in two of them both were totally destroyed by fire, while the third was saved by great effort. An East Liverpool citizen who passed through the district yesterday says the storm wrought havoc everywhere. He passed a tree which had been struck and scattered over two acres of ground, showing the great force of the lightning.

About Fairview and New Cumberland Saturday night, the storm was very severe and wrought havoc along its path, the lightning being unusually vivid and sharp.

THE FIRST GLADSTONE MEMORIAL LIBRARY BUILDING.

An appropriate and somewhat pretentious memorial to the late William E. Gladstone is the library building recently completed at Hawarden, England. The structure, the style of which is a modified Gothic, stands on an eminence and is one of the most conspicuous objects in the neighborhood. The interior is finished in antique oak. The cost of the building was defrayed by national subscriptions.

PASTOR OWENS HAS RESIGNED

Minister Surprised Baptist Congregation at Services Yesterday.

ON ACCOUNT OF ILL HEALTH

He Will Seek to Recuperate And Then Go to Another Field of Labor. Church Has Greatly Prospered During His Ministrations.

The congregation of the First Baptist church, of Fifth street, were treated to a great surprise yesterday morning when the pastor, Rev. Oscar L. Owens, announced his resignation to an unusually large audience. His letter of resignation follows:

"To the Members of the First Baptist Church,

"Dear Brethren:—We have now entered upon the last two months of the pastoral year. During the ten months that have just passed, this church has taken an advance step, and has, we trust, won many new friends and attained greater strength. If you are loyal the coming year will bring still greater blessings.

"I wish to express my gratitude to those in the church and to the friends outside who have given me encouragement by their interest and co-operation. I now beg leave to submit to you my resignation as minister to this congregation, and ask that my resignation shall go into effect on the first day of October, 1902.

"Praying that you may have the guidance of the Great Founder of the church as you shall determine upon my successor, I am

"Faithfully yours,

"OSCAR LEE OWENS."

The announcement came wholly unexpected, as the pastor had won his way to the hearts of not only his congregation, but of many friends throughout the city, who have from time to time been edified by his fervent efforts.

When a News Review reporter interviewed Mr. Owens today, the latter stated that he had taken up the work of the First Baptist church on Oct. 1, 1901, when the congregation numbered but 38 people. Through his efforts and efficient pastorate the congregation has doubled itself, now numbering 59 members. The church entire and Sunday school was in prosperous condition. In February of this year the church purchased property on Fifth street, and used the house as a chapel, and would continue services there until ready to build a more imposing and commodious structure.

Stating in part his reasons for resigning the pastorate, Rev. Mr. Owens said he had been much handicapped in the work owing to an illness with fever, from which he had not fully recovered, and his idea was to take a much needed rest, before again taking up ministerial work. He leaves today for Norfolk, Va., where he will spend 10 days with friends, and thence will go to Lake Ontario and return to the city on Sept. 1.

The minister has several fields open but has no plans for the future until his health is better.

The deacons will probably act on the resignation this week. They were appointed a committee to look out for a successor.

An interesting mission service was held on Sunday morning, and cash to more than pay off a note for $200 was raised. A crowd attended the evening services.

Lisbon, August 4. — (Special) —

The C. & P. Railroad company filed an action today in Judge Boone's court against Emma Ridinger and Charles

Peterson and wife. The company asks that a piece of land 320 feet long and in East Liverpool belonging to Em road purposes. It also asks that a tract

32 1/2 feet wide and containing .073

acres belonging to Charles Peterson

pany is running a second track and desires the land for that purpose.

The Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago

appropriation of 4.61 acres of land along its track in Salem township.

A UNANIMOUS CALL TENDERED DR. JONES

One of the largest congregations of the season was present at the morning service at the M. P. church yesterday.

One was the fact that Rev. David Jones, D. D., president of Adrian college, Mich., was to preach. The other was the regular communion service.

Dr. Jones has many warm friends in this city. Immediately after the service another evidence of this was shown when, by a unanimous vote, Dr. Jones was extended a call to become pastor of the local church for one year.

The call could just as well have been made for five years, except for the rule of the conference. There were several churches after Dr. Jones to be their pastor, particularly Calvary

M. P. church, of Allegheny. This congregation next Wednesday will also extend a call to Dr. Jones, but the members of the M. P. church of this city will leave no stone unturned to persuade him to come here. While in this city Dr. Jones was entertained at the home of a niece, Mrs. George

Wucherer, of Cadmus street.

It can be truthfully said that Dr.

Jones did not preach a sermon at this church yesterday morning. Those who knew the venerable pastor claim that it was just one of those heart-to-heat talks from pastor to people for which he is so noted. He spoke from

Galatians 2:20: "I am the Crucified

Christ, nevertheless I live; yet not I,

but Christ liveth in me, and the life which I now live in the flesh, I live

by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave Himself for me."

The discourse related to the life of the Apostle Paul. Of the few men who have lived who have profoundly changed the history and the ways of the world, St. Paul was one. There have not been more than six or seven of these men. They had the faith which caused the ways and traditions of the world to be changed. The question which St. Paul asked, "What wilt thou have me to do?" has changed the life of everyone who has asked it from the bottom of his heart.

A WILD MAN CAPTURED IN ST. CLAIR TOWNSHIP

Found Wandering Among the Hills, Where He Had Been For Several Days, Entirely Nude.

EATING GRASS WHEN THE OFFICERS SAW HIM.

While wandering among the hills of St. Clair township entirely destitute of clothing Charles Burbick, aged 27 years, was apprehended yesterday by Sheriff Leonard and Constable Powell.

The sheriff drove over from Lisbon in the morning and deputized the constable, saying that he had a hard case on his hands and needed a man of the constable's shrewdness to help him out. They, after dinner, drove to St. Clair township, where the relatives of Burbick had summoned them, and were told that young Burbick was roaming the hills and had been doing so for several days.

EAST END
HELPLESS FOR HOURS

MAN FELL INTO THE RAVINE AND LAY UNCONSCIOUS.

It is Supposed He Was Drunk And Fell on Saturday Night.

A man with red hair and appearing to be not more than 25 years old was found almost dead this morning in a small ravine off Pennsylvania avenue on the road to East End. What the name of the man was and how long he had been in the ravine could not be ascertained in the East End this morning. From appearances those who found the man claim that he had been under the influence of liquor and that while walking along the road he staggered and fell into the ravine, where he remained until this morning.

It was evident that he had been there for some time, as his clothing was wet and his face terribly scarred. It is thought that he was knocked unconscious by his fall, and lay in that condition until found this morning shortly before 4 o'clock. It is evident that the man had fallen into the ravine Saturday night, and when found he was so weak that he could hardly walk.

A Reported Prize Fight.

It is said in the East End this morning that it just required three rounds only to finish a prize fight or a boxing match at Columbian park Saturday evening between 10 and 11 o'clock. The principals in this affair were said to be Laughlin and Anthony, well known young men of Chafinville. Laughlin, after fighting three fierce rounds in the presence of a good crowd, is reported to have won. Considerable money is said to have changed hands as a result of the fight. It was supposed the fight would take place at Beaver Falls, but late in the week this arrangement was discarded.

Old Folks' Day Services.

A large number of old people attended the morning service at the Erie street M. E. church yesterday morning, the occasion being Old Folks' day. The service was an interesting one.

POWER WAS OFF

AND CARS BETWEEN THIS CITY
AND WELLSVILLE.It Took From An Hour and a Half to
Two Hours to Make
the Trip.

A break in the mains of the Fort Pitt Gas company early Saturday evening caused no end of inconvenience to the traveling public of this city and Wellsville. It was one of those accidents that could not be foreseen, and for this reason no blame should be attached to the street railway company. It seems that when the gas gave out travel on the road was at its height, and for a trip from the square in Wellsville to the Diamond, car No. 19 consumed two hours, and other cars an hour and a half.

It was a trying trip to say the least. Car No. 19 left the square in Wellsville on time, shortly after 8 o'clock, and at the "Driven-From-Home" switch it met another car going west. As car No. 19 was ascending the hill the power became weak, and the motorman allowed it to fall back to the switch. There the car lay for 30 minutes. The power was then turned on and the car proceeded as far as Brady's cut, when the motorman noticed another car leaving the Walker switch. Again the car was taken back to the "Driven-From-Home" switch. There it lay for considerable time. Again it went east and got as far as the Walker switch, and proceeded until it reached a point almost at the top of the grade east of Walker. It then returned to the Walker switch, for it was behind time and could not make the Jethro switch.

While the car was on the Walker switch the power again went off, and No. 19 remained there for almost an hour. Had it not been for the small boy with his mouth organ who was on the car, the passengers would have gone to sleep. The crowd on the car was a good natured one, and seemed to be content with the thought that they were in one car that did not leak while it was raining.

The employees at the power house converted the boilers so that coal could be used, and as soon as a sufficient amount of steam was raised the power was turned on.

THE OLD STYLE OF AGRICULTURE
AND THE NEW.Old Time Yankee Disappearing From
New England—An Ideal Region For
Vacationing to Be Found In the
Nutmeg State.

(Special Correspondence)

Wilton, Conn., August 4.—What it would be like here in the winter, with the thermometer occasionally dropping to 15 below and no furnaces under the houses, mostly wooden and old, the city dweller cannot contemplate without a shiver. But now in the glory of summer, with the sweet fruits and juicy vegetables in their prime, with the aroma of grass, Jersey butter and cream in his nostrils, their flavor, "ausgezeichnet," upon his tongue, he says it is a paradise for summer vacationing.

Some of the farmers still left in this historic country are kind enough to take city boarders in summer. Of a Sunday afternoon the kindly farmer will hitch Dobbins to a light open road wagon and take the boarders driving over the long, flower scented, bush bordered roads.

"There," the farmer will say, "pointing to a hillside above a graveyard—there the British crossed on their way down the valley during the Revolutionary war. And you see that brown house there. That was an inn at the time of the Revolution, and the British peppered it with bullets. A few years ago the bullet marks were still to be seen, but they've repaired the house and taken the battered boards out now."

The farmer, your host, is one of the new time Connecticuters. You listen for the dialect of the stage Yankee. You do not hear it. There is indeed in the accent of the country folk here about still a faint suggestion of the English of the "Biglow Papers." Like—They didn't know everything down in Judee.

But only a suggestion. The older native will pronounce the word "idea" to rhyme with "Judee," but present generation Yankee English is the same as is heard among intelligent people

The offer of Senator C. C. Connell, of Lisbon, to come to East Liverpool and take counsel with the citizens regarding what is desired in the new municipal code is one that should be thoughtfully considered and accepted. Those who are posted on public affairs in this city could doubtless offer suggestions, which, if carried out in legislation, might be of great utility and value, not alone to East Liverpool, but to other cities of the state whose population and needs are similar. The senator's desire to learn the wishes of his constituents before the legislature meets, that he may act according to them when the code question is before the legislature, is most commendable. Steps should at once be taken to arrange for a meeting and for expressions of opinion on the important questions to be settled. It is likely that the code bill to be enacted the coming fall will stand for years, and special legislation having been put under the ban of the supreme court, changes will be difficult after it has become a law. It is therefore of the utmost importance that it should be a bill adapted not only to the present needs of cities, but one that will apply when their population has been doubled, as East Liverpool's population will be in a few years at the present rate of growth.

OBITUARY

Constable James A. Miller.

James Alexander Miller died at 2:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon at his home in this city. His physicians state that death was the result of nervous collapse. At the home of Wilbur Miller, a son, on Sixth street, funeral services were conducted Sunday evening at 9 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Crawford preached the sermon and a quartet of the M. E. church choir sang. On the early train this morning the remains were shipped to Mechanicsburg for burial. A large number of relatives and friends accompanied the body.

Born in Carroll county on September 30, 1844, James A. Miller lived in that vicinity for 44 years. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Miller, the latter alone living at the age of 82 years. In the sixties he was married to Mattilda L. Potts, a sister of Editor Potts, of Lisbon, and also of B. F. Potts, deceased, who was for over 12 years governor of Montana. To this union three boys were born, Wilbur C. Chalmers M. and Floyd L., all of whom are living in this city. Prior to moving to this city 14 years ago Mr. Miller was engaged extensively in the stock business. For years he shipped on every Saturday several carloads of stock of all kinds to the market at Pittsburgh. In this business he at one time accumulated considerable money but through a misjudgment he lost the most of it and finally decided to change his vocation. He was an expert in the matter of wool buying and made several trips through this section on that business. Buying a half interest in a butcher shop located on Washington street he and W. H. McLean carried on the business for five years, when Mr. Miller sold out and accepted a position with the Crocker City Milling company, where he worked for several years and then was employed by L. J. Magee, who conducted a feed store on Sixth street. In 1898 he was elected constable and held that position at the time of his death. He was at one time a member of the Methodist Episcopal church and of the I. O. O. F. at Salineville.

Candles.

"I thought candles went with stage coaches, but a good many people must use them yet," said a shopper who pointed to a collection of candlesticks, all of the utility sort, arrayed in a house furnishing department. There were big and little, ornamental and plain, practical and unpractical ones. Some had broad trays, and others had none at all; and some had devices for lifting the candle, while others were made with deep necks. There still remain people who cling to the traditions of their ancestors and will have none of the modern lighting inventions for their sleeping rooms. Certain women prefer a light in their bedrooms until they are asleep, and for this purpose a candle is just the thing, for it will put itself out at the time proportioned by its length. —New York Tribune.

Saw No Reason For Swearing.

General Grant was asked why he never swore. He replied: "Well, when a boy I had an aversion to swearing. It seemed useless, an unnecessary habit, and besides I saw that swearing usually aroused a man's anger. I early had a desire to have complete command of myself. I noticed when a man got angry his opponent always got the better of him. On that account also I determined to refrain from swearing. Then the swearing men of my acquaintance when a boy were not the best men I knew. I never saw any reasons for swearing. All were against it."

Home Life In England and America

The decay of the home life is to be attributed partially to the influence on society of the invasion of Americans.

In the United States home life is almost unknown. The meaning of the word "home," as understood to Britons, is a mystery to Yankees. To a certain extent we have always envied your home life, and I certainly agree with some of your correspondents that it would be disastrous for your country to lose the elevating and refining influences of the home.—An Anglo-American in London Mail.

TAWSBURY WON

C. A. Smith's Horses Conspicuous In the Brunot's Island Races.

The Pittsburgh papers of yesterday had this to say of the races at Brunot's Island track Saturday, in which several horses of C. A. Smith, of this city, were entered:

The patrons were treated to some splendid pacing in the third event.

Carrie Williams, W. A. Avery's bay mare, and C. A. Smith's Tewksbury, a gray mare, were the actors and they made a fine race.

In the first heat Tewksbury got the pole and was slightly in the head when starting. She broke before reaching the quarter, however, and Carrie Williams forged ahead.

Tewksbury recovered quickly after the brake, but could not regain the lead, although she made a desperate effort, and both horses finished in fast time, the mile in 2:14 1-2.

In the next heat the horses left the stand neck and neck and continued like a team to the half, which was made in 1:07 3-4. At the half Carrie Williams was leading by a length, but the horses were together again at the last quarter, and came down the stretch in a manner that set the crowd wild.

Tewksbury passed under the wire about one foot in front of the bay mare, making the mile in 1:15. In the third heat both horses seemed to be slightly worn, though they went another good mile. They were promising another close finish, but Carrie Williams broke at the beginning of the stretch, and Tewksbury took a good lead before she could recover. Tewksbury won the heat by three lengths in 2:20.

WELLSVILLE

PRISONER WITH A HISTORY

Man Who Participated in a Memorable Jail Break at Wellsville Arrested.

Hugh Hinchcliffe, formerly of Wellsville, now a Pittsburgh police officer, identified a man in the latter city for stealing junk as "Red" Dobbins. Dobbins was held for court under $500 bond.

The man when arrested gave his name as Leonard McTaggart, but Hinchcliffe surprised him by calling him by his real name.

Nine years ago, says a Pittsburgh paper, Hinchcliffe was an officer in Wellsville when Dobbins was put in jail for a minor offense. He, with three others, tunneled his way out of jail, took refuge in a dugout along the river and, hanging out a red flag, defied arrest. In the fight that ensued, in which Officer Hinchcliffe participated, the sheriff was shot in the shoulder by Dobbins. He served two years in the Columbus penitentiary for it.

WAITING ON COURT

STREET RAILWAY PROMOTERS OTHERWISE READY TO BUILD.

S. B. Goucher Talks of the Prospects of the Proposed Chester-Congo Line.

S. B. Goucher, of the firm of Goucher & McIlwaine, who are interested in the Chester-Congo street railway, says they are only awaiting the decision of the Hancock county court of appeals to begin the work of construction of this line.

Attorney O. S. Marshall, for Johnson, the plaintiff in the Congo ferry case, asked for a continuance of the matter until the next term of court, which was granted, and it will probably be September before the matter is settled.

There may possibly be a bridge in connection with this new street railway venture from the west end of East Liverpool over to Newell, which would make an entirely independent street railway line operating on both sides of the Ohio. The matter all depends, however, on a favorable decision for Messrs. Goucher & McIlwaine in the Hancock county court of appeals.

AN INDUSTRIAL TOWN

With a Tin Mill and Other Factories to Be Built at Mahan.

The long talked of deal by which the Mahan and Hamilton tracts of land in Cross Creek district are transferred to a company of Washington, Pa., and Pittsburgh capitalists with Cyrus Ferguson, of McDonald, as agent, has been consummated, says the Wellsville Herald, and an industrial town with Folinsbee Bros.' tin plate mill and other factories as a nucleus. This is an entirely different deal from that in which T. J. and H. B. Mahan sold their farms for cash.

The property just sold consists of the Jos. Hamilton farm of 300 acres; Richard Mahan 50 acres; Frank Mahan 100 acres and W. B. Mahan 190-1/2 acres in all of first and second tier bottom. The price paid was $100,000 each and the following reservations were made: Richard Mahan, house, barn and two acres; James Hamilton, W. B. Mahan, and Frank Mahan each two acres for building sites—all the ground reserved being contiguous and located on the Steubenville-Elderville road.

BULLET CARLESSLY FIRED

Went Through Window of Room Where Bunker And Wife Were Sleeping.

A. P. Howard, president of the Homeworth National bank, of Pittsburgh, was yesterday visiting his son Homer, who lives in Congo, opposite Wellsville. At about 2 o'clock he was awakened by a 32-caliber bullet crashing through the window of the room where he and his wife were sleeping.

The lower sash was raised and the bullet went through both panes and passed over the bed where Mr. Howard was sleeping. He has no idea who fired the shot or why it was done, but thinks it probable that some one on the river was foolishly handling a revolver.

The Teaching of Suffering.

Rev. W. B. Gillis, of the U. P. church, chose for his theme last night "The Moral Teaching of Suffering," and the sermon was most interesting and instructive. Joy and sorrow were twin forces of this life. Fidelity to Christ's cause and love for one's fellow men were indications of the Savior's plan of redemption. Self-restraint must be followed by suffering before perfection was reached.

Wanted to Whip Everybody.

A Pittsburgh structural ironworker ran amuck at Rock Springs park Saturday evening, and wanted to whip everybody on the grounds. Officers Hassey and Elliott accommodated him, and he fought with the officers all the way to the lockup. "Squire" Johnston gave him $9.60 later, which he paid and was released. Two others, intoxicated, were escorted to the train by Officer Hassey.

Production Growing Steadily.

The production of the Turkeyfoot extension oil field is steadily increasing, the daily production now aggregating 1,500 barrels. The entire Turkeyfoot field is now doing 2,000 barrels per day. This is nearly as good as in the palmy days of the field, and farmers and operators are elated over the future prospects of the field.

An Enjoyable Concert.

The concert at the park Sunday afternoon and evening was fairly well attended. Nowling's orchestra rendered some pleasing numbers, and were liberally applauded. In the afternoon many left the grounds owing to the approaching storm.

CERVERA AT HIS HOME.

How the Spanish Admiral Is Spending His Declining Years.

Contrary to reports recently printed in the United States, Admiral Cervera, who commanded the ill-fated Spanish fleet at the naval battle of Santiago, is not suffering from the neglect and contempt of his countrymen.

Quite the reverse, in fact, is the admiral's position in Spain. He is spending his declining years at Puerto Real, a few miles distant from Cadiz, and spends many a day at the naval club in the old city founded by the Phoenicians, where he is the object of much solicitous attention and affection. Puerto Real has been nicknamed by the Spaniards the navy's "Pensionopolis," for at least one tenth of its inhabitants are retired naval officers.

The house in Santo Domingo street which is Admiral Cervera's home, although modest in size and appearance, is one of the best in the little seaport city. It wears an air of comfort and cheerfulness, even of luxuriance.

Here, surrounded by a numerous contingent of sons and daughters and their children, the old sea dog spends his days with his books. The den of Admiral Cervera is as neat and cozy as a ship's cabin, the flat top desk, medium sized bookcase and two or three chairs filling nearly all the available space.

The routine of his life, as recently explained by himself, consists of reading naval reports from different parts of the world, attending to correspondence, etc., which take up his morning hours. In the afternoon he visits the casino, where he meets his old comrades in arms. This is varied by occasional trips to Cadiz.

The admiral draws half pay from the government and besides has quite a little fortune of his own. He owns half a dozen houses and considerable land in the township of Medina Sidonia, the home of the mafquises of Cervera. The admiral's father was a wealthy man, but as he left many children the parental fortune has been so split up that none of his heirs can be considered rich. Nevertheless the admiral wants for none of the comforts of life, nor does he lack the friendship and respect of his countrymen.

WITH THE WORKMEN
IN THE CLAY PLANTS

A CERAMIC SCHOOL.

The recent publication in this column suggesting an art pottery in this city has created much favorable comment. It must be understood that in presenting this matter to the reading public, there was but one thing in mind—that of increasing the production of ware in this city in a line not heretofore undertaken. Should an art pottery be established, the matter of forming a school for the development of potters' talents should not be lost sight of. It is by education that progress is made in any line of business, and where is there a business today that could be more uplifted by education than the pottery trade? Go into almost any pottery in East Liverpool and walk through the pressing shop. Nine times out of ten you will find drawings on the wall that were made by a presser. This proves that the presser has talent for this particular kind of work, and he could no doubt earn more money, and be of more service to the firm by which he is employed, if he was employed in a decorative department. But for the lack of education in the line of drawing and painting, this presser is compelled to work in the clay day in and day out, year in and year out. No advancement, no place to develop his talents. He is to be pitied. Then why not a school of ceramics embracing all departments of a pottery? One of the leading manufacturers of the city a few days ago made the following statement: "I would be willing, in fact I would only be too glad, to put from $50 to $500 in a project of this sort. I would soon have it returned to me ten fold. It is the only logical way to educate the rising generation in the art of pottery making. But I would follow a plan something like this: If I noticed an employee having a special taste for drawing, I would place him in the decorating or art department of the school; if an employee showed a taste or talent to be a presser, and he was employed in another department of the pottery, then I would see to it that he received the proper instruction. All these little things help in one's life, and if he facilities for education are not at hand, then the entire community has sustained a loss, perhaps not just at this time, but it will be a loss of the future that could have been avoided." Many similar expressions have been heard.

Give the younger generation a chance to display their talent, and if they are at all anxious to succeed, they will take advantage of any education in that particular line that is offered them. There is not a department in a pottery in this country today that could not be improved very much through the right sort of education. One manufacturer said he would be willing to let several of his employees attend a school of ceramics for an hour or so during the day and not deduct anything from their wages. This only goes to show that a manufacturer who would act so fairly and try to assist his employees to secure an education at his expense, is not only doing a most commendable service, but one that would be the means of bringing large returns to his firm. There are many pottery workers in this city that are well versed in their particular line of work. For a very small amount these men would be willing to devote a part of their time to a school of ceramics, in the capacity of instructor. There is a school of ceramics in Trenton, and it is productive of excellent results. A department of ceramics is one of the courses at the Ohio State University at Columbus, students from which are now located in this city, holding good positions, and are considered experts in their particular lines of work. Trials for biscuit and gloss kilns made at the school at Columbus, are used in this city, and by the hundreds. They could be made in this city just as well. The inventor of these trials studied the art of kiln-baking, and his success today is the result of hard work and study. If a man of this character had never had the opportunity to advance his talents through education, he probably would not be holding his present position in the ceramic world. There is room for a school of ceramics in this city, also room for education in the art of making pottery; there are hundreds in the city who would only be too glad to have the chance to enter a school

A SEVERE SPRAIN.

While working at Laughlin No. 2 Saturday morning, A. J. Pollock accidentally sprained his back in such a manner that he was unable to carry any saggers into the kiln on that day. He had been at the bench but an hour in the morning when the accident occurred. Mr. Pollock kept at work, however, placing the saggers on the bench, and from there they were carried into the kiln by his fellow workmen. It is evident that all the men in Mr. Pollock's crew are bent on helping one another.

IDLE FOR A FEW DAYS.

The East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe company Saturday afternoon stopped making pipe for a few days. This is caused by the company making a number of improvements at the plant. One press has been in operation at this plant for the past two weeks, while the second press was idle on account of some changes being made to it. Now both presses are stopped, and they will not be started for a week at least. The engines will be run for a few days, or until the kiln-placers clean the plant of all the pipe now being dried. It is thought this will be done before the improvements are completed.

HIT BY A TRAIN.

John Allender, a saggermaker at the Steubenville pottery, was struck by a handcar freight in that city Friday night and received an injured shoulder and had his right ear nearly cut off. He also suffered internal injuries, but not serious.

RESUMED IN FULL.

All the plants operated by the K. T. & K. company the Edwin M. Knowles and the Taylor, Smith & plants at Chester resumed operations in full this morning. After resting since Friday last the Union pottery resumed work this morning. The employees of this shop were paid last Friday afternoon instead of Saturday. This was occasioned by the funeral of Isaac W. Knowles.

NEW CLAY MINE.

The Forest City Sewer Pipe works of the American Sewer Pipe company, at Toronto, have completed their new clay mine entry of 150 feet, at a great cost. The new entry and tramway will afford better ingress and egress to the clay mine. A new clay crusher will also be located at the opening of the tramway.

INTERESTING SESSION.

Packers' local No. 25 held an interesting session last Friday night. Matters of a routine nature were discussed in the main. One transfer card was received at this session, that being deposited by Grayde Coleman, of Ford City, Pa., who came here a few days ago from that shop to look for work in this city.

TOOK AN ADVISOR ALONG.

Taylor Larkins and Mike O'Brien, well known kilnmen residing in the East End, left for the south Saturday evening to purchase a horse. Mr. Larkins proposed to purchase the animal, and in order to not get the worst of the deal asked Mr. O'Brien to make the trip with him to act as judge, so to speak.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS.

The Barberton (O.) sewer pipe plant of the American Sewer Pipe company has been completely overhauled and much improvement made. This is perhaps the largest plant in the American's possession, having between 40 and 50 kilns and mammoth buildings.

Charles Knoblock, who accidentally ran a nail in the muscle of his left arm a few days ago while packing a cask at the P. E. McNeil pottery, is improving quite rapidly, and it will be but a few days until he is able to resume his work.

It is the intention to organize a mixed local at Barberton just as soon as that shop is in steady operation. President A. S. Hughes lately made a trip to Barberton. The workers will soon hold a meeting to organize.

E. A. Crawford, one of the salesmen for the Smith-Phillips plant, left Friday evening for an extended fall trip. It is expected that he will remain out for several months.

William Fickes is a new glaze kilnman at the C. C. Thompson pottery.

AMONG THE POTTERS.

Frank Way, a kilnplacer at R. Thompson & Sons' porcelain works, is off duty from illness.

Charles Smith and William Haas have accepted positions as pinmakers at the Louthan Supply company's pottery.

The Brazil (Ind.) sewer pipe plant of the American Sewer Pipe company is the largest western plant of the company, and is running to its fullest capacity.

The Freeman fire brick works of the American Sewer Pipe company, are running to their fullest capacity and turning out between 35,000 to 50,000 brick per day.

Kilndrawers' local No. 17 held an interesting meeting Saturday evening, the first that had been held for two weeks. The attendance was just fair, and important business was transacted.

William Hardie, a diper at Laughlin No. 3, is now taking a vacation which commenced Saturday afternoon and will last for two weeks, during that time he will visit several of the eastern summer resorts and also New York.

Poke Little, for many months employed at Laughlin's No. 2 as a decorating kilnman and who has been unable to work for some time on account of illness, is now able to be out. Within a short time he expects to leave on an extensive western trip for the benefit of his health.

Cooper's Local Officers.

The Coopers' local No. 71, C. I. U. of N. A., at their last meeting elected the following officers: President, Isadore Beardmore; vice president, James Douglass; financial secretary, Herbert Everett; recording secretary, W. J. Day; treasurer, Samuel Donovan; sergeant-at-arms, J. Kilmyre; inner guard, Brady Wolf; outer guard, Harry A. Douglass; reporter, W. S. Dorff; delegates to the international convention, W. J. Day; alternate, W. S. Dorff.

Mitchell Said as to This Week—Citizens' Organization to Ask Arbitration.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 4.—President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, made another visit to Scranton yesterday. Before going he said there was no change in the strike situation.

He did not think that an attempt would be made to resume work at any of the collieries the coming week.

From what he could learn the Oxford mine, in the Lackawanna region, was being operated by new men. None of the old employees had returned and at a meeting they pledged themselves not to return. Mr. Mitchell said the same conditions prevailed throughout the entire region. The strikers were still confident they were going to win and so long as they felt that way there was little probability that they would report for work.

It was reported yesterday that work would be resumed at the Woodward Colliery of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company today or to-morrow and that a number of old miners would report for work. State Secretary J. F

IRELAND'S WARNING

Advises Agitators Among Catholics to Hold Their Peace.

AMERICA IS ALWAYS JUST.

Public Agitation Not Necessary—Anyhow, the Friars' Question Is in the Hands of Pope Leo—Clerics Do Not Represent the Church.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 4.—Archbishop Ireland, preaching Sunday morning in the cathedral, said in part:

"The Apostle Paul gives this counsel, 'Not to be more wise than it becometh to be wise, but to be wise unto soberness, and according as God hath divided to every one the measure of faith.' In the mind of the apostle, things most excellent if made use of in undue measure and without proper regard for circumstances, of time and place, change into things perilous and hurtful. And this is undoubtedly what is happening in the case of the fiery zeal in defense of Catholic interests which seems to be coveting an explosion at the present time among certain classes of American Catholics. The interests of the church, it is said, are made to suffer at the hands of the government in its newly acquired dependencies, and the call to arms is sounded from the rostrums of Catholic societies, and through the columns of Catholic papers to the perturbation of the whole Catholic body, and, indeed, of the whole country. The moment has come to say to Catholics, 'Be wise, be zealous, unto soberness, and according as God hath divided to every one the measure of faith,' and such the course I take the liberty to give to my hearers.

Clerics Don't Represent Church.

"Who are they, who complain and protest and call upon Catholics to be up and doing? Are they those who might claim to represent the church in its general, or even local interests?

"Certainly he has not complained; rather has he been heard from in very different tones. Have the ecclesiastical authorities in the dependencies invoked our aid?" In no instance have they so acted; where they have been heard from, as in the case of Porto Rico and of Cuba, it was to tell us in plainest words that they had no grievance, although from irresponsible sources it had been on several previous occasions, dinned into our ears that the church was robbed and persecuted in both those islands.

Bishop Blenck, of Porto Rico, openly rejoices that the American flag, rather than the Spanish, guards his diocese, and the hierarchy in Cuba are thanking God that church interests there were settled by the government at Washington before a Cuban parliament was allowed to sit down in Havana. The archbishops of the states meet together once a year in Washington, each one representing the whole hierarchy. It can not be said that they are heedless of the welfare of the church; and yet they have sounded no alarm. Whatever complaints have been heard from among individual Catholics or from societies of Catholics, in neither case is there warrant to represent others than the men themselves, or the societies themselves who do speak. Societies of Catholics are organized for purposes of their own, usually with the intent to secure special aid or comfort to such as are members thereof. Restricted to those purposes, they are within their sphere and are entitled to respect. To venture beyond those purposes and assume general direction of the church is quite another thing. It must be remembered that there are hundreds of thousands of good and influential Catholic laymen, members of no mutual benevolent society, who have commissioned no society to speak for them. It must be remembered also that soldiers of the church, as soldiers of an army of whatever kind, whether singly or whether in companies or regiments, must await the action of the commanders before they undertake to act for the whole organization. Be wise according as God hath divided to every one the measure of faith."

America Willing to Give Justice.

"Nor is public agitation necessary in America to redress grievances, if grievances do exist, whether such grievances have origin as is often the case, from mere inadvertence, or, as it more rarely happens, from malice aforethought on the part of individual officials of the government. I say it advisedly, and I am prepared to stand by what I here say, there is always redress from grievances, so far as circumstances may allow, if it is sought through quiet and reasonable methods, from the high representatives of the government. Let justice be done to America; in no other country is there a government so fair-minded, so impartial, so willing to treat all classes of citizens with absolute justice as that with which we are blessed in America.

"The logic of the situation in presence of strange complications for church and state arising from a change of sovereignty in the Philippine Islands pointed to a mutual confidence between the head of the church and the state as the proper and dignified way to a final and peaceful solution. Leo XIII saw this; Theodore Roosevelt saw this. Leo took the initiative, proposed the conference, and asked the government to expose frankly and thoroughly its views. The president and his advisers accepted the proposition. What more could have been done by the administration to prove its good will and sense of justice? If the administration had refused to send a representative to Rome, verily what clamorings there would have been; and now, when it has sent a representative to Rome and agrees to the further proposal of the vatican to transfer negotiations to Manila, clamorings are still raised. Well, some people are born to clamor; and privilege to clamor must be allowed to them. Be it so; but we shall insist that they clamor in their own name and not in the name of the church in America, and for our own part we shall hold ourselves in peace, leaving church interests in the Philippines to one who understands them as well at least as we do and who will be as wise in disposing of them as we could well hope to be—Leo XIII."

FAPAL DELEGATE TO MANILA.

The Vatican Trying to Secure an American For the Post.

Rome, Aug. 4.—The delay in appointing an apostolic delegate to Manila is due to the desire of the vatican authorities to please the authorities at Washington by sending to the Philippines an American prelate, and the vatican has been awaiting letters from the United States. The prelate who it was thought likely will accept is thoroughly adapted to the mission.

Should the plan fall through, the most probable candidate is Mgr. Guidi, now in the office of Cardinal Rampa, the papal secretary of state.

COUPLE ON LONG WALK.

Elopers From Dayton, O., Going From Washington Back Home.

Baltimore, Aug. 4.—To walk from Richmond, Va., to Dayton, O., is the task set by a young couple who left here Sunday. They stated at the office of the superintendent of charities that they had eloped from Dayton four months ago and had gone to Washington, where they were married. This part of the story was substantiated by the marriage certificate which they exhibited. From Washington they said they had gone to Richmond, where the young man had secured employment as a conductor in a trolley car. Then came a strike and the husband lost his position. His funds were not strong and they decided that he would be better off at Dayton, especially as there did not seem to be any way of making a living for himself and wife in Richmond, where he is confident of securing employment in Dayton.

They had very little money and decided to walk and started out heading for Baltimore as one of the stopping places. It has taken them four weeks to get here.

The officials refused to give the names of the couple but said the man is 27 years old and his wife 17. They declined to accept transportation to Dayton but were provided with money.

Guards Commanded to Use Bullets, If Necessary, at Shenandoah, Pa.

THREE ATTACKS ON THE TROOPS.

Stones Thrown on Saturday Night.

One of the Assailants Caught—He

Will Be Turned Over to the Civil Authorities Today.

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 4.—The entire Eighth regiment was called to arms during Saturday night as a result of three attacks made by a band of men in ambush, who threw stones at the troops now in camp on the plateau outside the town. These attacks were becoming so frequent that Brigadier General Gobin decided to adopt stern measures to end them. Last night a double guard, supplied with ball cartridges, surrounded the camp, and the sentries were instructed that if Saturday night's stone throwing was repeated they must shoot to kill and investigate afterwards. One of the attacking party, a Lithuanian named William Stoponitz, was arrested and confined in the guard tent, and the provost marshal was on the trail of the others. It was not known how many were in the crowd, but the officers of the Eighth regiment believed the number to have been more than a dozen.

A Guard Knocked Down.

The first attack, according to Colonel Theodore F. Hoffman, was made at 10:45 o'clock Saturday night. Private Payne, of Company I, on sentry duty, saw a party of men on the Mahanoy City road, which separates the camp of the Eighth regiment from the Twelfth. He commanded the men to halt and called the corporal of the guard, but before the latter could respond a shower of stones and rocks were thrown at the sentry. One rock struck him on the chest, knocking him down and causing his gun to fall from his hands. He immediately jumped up and fired several shots in the air. As he did so the men ran down the road and were pursued by several strangers. The outpost, which had been stationed some distance from the camp, heard the shots and one of the pickets reported Stoponitz as he came running down the road. The others escaped.

The shooting aroused the whole camp and the Eighth regiment was put under arms and companies B, E and K were immediately thrown out in skirmish lines. They beat the underbrush and laurel, which is five or six feet high, all around the camp, but they could find no one. The regiment was then called to quarters and 15 minutes later another shower of stones was thrown at the stable guard, which is located south of the Eighth regiment. The guard turned out and three men were seen running along the road in opposite direction from where the outpost was stationed. The strangers were not pursued.

Regiment Sounded to Arms.

Shortly after 3 o'clock Sunday morning the third and last attack was made, and it was of such a nature that the bugler, under orders from Colonel Hoffman, sounded the whole regiment to arms. This time the stable guard was again the object of the mysterious attack. Stones in volleys were thrown at the guard and at the sentries nearby. On account of the laurel underbrush and the darkness the soldiers could not see the offenders. However, the sentries fired about a dozen shots into the bushes, but no one was hit. Some of the bullets went whistling over the tents of the sleeping soldiers of the Twelfth regiment, across the road.

The noise of the firing and the sharp call to arms stirred up the Twelfth regiment and the Governor's troop of cavalry, which is located close to the Eighth regiment. Colonel Clement of the Twelfth regiment sent out reinforcements to investigate the trouble, as did also Captain Oct in command of the cavalry. The Eighth regiment, Colonel Hoffman said was under arms and ready for action in three minutes. Another thorough investigation was made without result and then the command, after standing in formation for 30 minutes, was called to quarters and not again disturbed.

The Prisoner Examined.

Colonel Hoffman made a full report to Brigadier General Gobin, who came to camp during the forenoon to make a full investigation. He put Stoponitz through a searching examination.

The prisoner said there were only four men in the party. He gave the name of one of them as Michael Lavoy and said he did not know who the others were. While under exam-

HUCKSTERS OBJECT

WILL FIGHT GROCERS' PROPOSITION TO TAX THEM.

Claim They Are Entitled to Do Business Without Paying License Fee.

The hucksters of the city will not let the Grocers' association petition to council pass without fighting the measure to impose a license upon them. They allege that a number of grocers peddle bread, vegetables, etc., and that a great deal of their produce is shipped here from points down the river, and that they have been the first ones to cut prices on green stuff.

The hucksters allege that their trade is a legitimate calling; they are residents of the city, pay taxes and share in general in the city's business and prosperity. The state law, they claim, entitles them to sell anything manufactured or raised in the state free of charge, and they claim to be therefore entitled to the same privileges accorded any other business.

Another claim that they make is that they do not handle any foreign goods, and the country surrounding, which is in part East Liverpool territory, is drawn upon for their supplies, while the stock of the grocers comes for the most part from foreign dealers. These matters probably will be put in form to present to council when the license matter comes up for consideration.

The hucksters offer no kick against the grocers acting against those coming from West Virginia, as they are certainly foreign dealers, and no objection would perhaps be made by the city hucksters against licensing them.

The savings bank depositors in the United States now number more than six millions of people, and their deposits aggregate more than $2,500,000,000. These figures will suffice to show that the small depositor has become in a definite sense the capitalist of the country. The combination of the savings of men and women of limited means brought about by the savings bank of the country furnishes the capital for the largest undertakings of municipal and private corporations. The Dollar Savings bank of this city is rapidly increasing its number of depositors.
